THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.

VOL. IX.—NO. 111. PHILADELPHIA, SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1869. DOUBLE SHEET—THREE CENTS.

A CLEAR, SMOOTH SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION follows the use of HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA.

It removes black spots, pimples moth patches, and all eruptions of the skin.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS, THE system naturally undergoes a change, and HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is an assistant of the greatest value.

YOUNG LADIES BEWARE! OF THE injurious effects of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy, and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

NOT A FEW OF THE WORST DISORders that affect mankind arise from corruption of the blood. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is a remedy of the utmost value.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors that make disease.

QUANTITY VS. QUALITY. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA. The dose is small. Those who desire a large quantity and large doses of medicine ERR.

THOSE WHO DESIRE BRILLIANCY of complexion must purify and enrich the blood, which HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA invariably does. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the Great Blood Purifier.

HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATED DISEASES OF THE THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP AND SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect safety.

TWO TABLESPOONFULS of the extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the "Medico-Chirurgical Review" on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., etc. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic, with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable, as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

More Aid for the Rebels.

Arms Taken from Governor's Island—Confession of a Federal Officer—The Revolution on the Island—It is not Dying Out.

From the New York papers of this morning we have interesting information relative to the shipping of arms for the Cuban Revolutionists.

Arms from Governor's Island.

The N. Y. Sun says:—"The arms and ammunition of the last expedition are said to have been taken from Governor's Island. They were previously, of course, the Government property, but a certain officer on the island recently sold them to one of the leaders of the expedition, and they were taken from the arsenal and magazine direct to the vessel. This was one of the most ingenious measures ever taken by the sympathizers with the revolutionists, for it rendered publicity or danger impossible. The cases were traced to the armory on the island, and an inquiry was instituted to ascertain why the officer in command allowed them to be removed. It was soon found, as alleged by the Spanish agents, that one of the officers had sold the guns, rifles, and ammunition under the new regulation of the War Department, allowing him to offer at reasonable prices all unnecessary weapons of war, in order to carry out the new principle of Federal economy. The officer who sold the articles is said to have confessed the fact, but he excuses himself by asserting that he was not aware that they were intended for the insurgents. The Spanish Minister has been advised of these facts, and will institute an investigation."

Seven Millions for Independence.

The Cuban Junta have an abundance of the sinews of war. Before the decree of confiscation issued by the Spanish authorities, 20,000 Cubans left the country for the United States, having sold all their property. The amount they brought with them is estimated at $20,000,000; of this sum $7,000,000 has been lodged in a Wall street bank. This money was lodged there by Mr. Aldama, Mr. Morsicomas, Mr. Branionssea, Dr. Bassaro, Mr. Dias, Mr. Valiente, and Mr. Casanova; and it is said that it has been consecrated to Cuban independence.

The Steamship Quaker City.

Of this steamer, which, it is reported on good authority, has been purchased in the interest of the rebels, the New York World says, it is a side-wheel steamer of 1443 tons burden, built in Philadelphia in 1854, by Messrs. Vaughn & Lynn. In addition to the ordinary fastening, she is diagonally strapped with iron across the frames; she has two masts, is brig-rigged forward, and schooner-rigged aft, and can spread a large amount of canvas in aid of her steam power. She is 227 feet long, with 36 feet breadth of beam, and 20 feet depth of hold. She has one side lever engine, with 88-inch cylinder and 66-foot stroke. She was extensively repaired in April, 1868, and opened and thoroughly inspected by the American Lloyds, who granted her a certificate for two years at A1½. She has just been taken out of water in the Dry Dock at the Erie Basin, and a new suit of metal put on her. She will draw, with her armament and coal on board, about fifteen feet. She lays now at the Novelty Iron Works, foot of Twelfth street, East river, where she was visited by a reporter yesterday, who found those on board, as may well be supposed, extremely averse to having any inspection made. There is little doubt, however, even from the cursory inspection which he made, that she is being rapidly altered into a war vessel. The saloon aft, on the upper deck, has been removed, leaving the quarter deck clear for the working of the battery. Below a commodious wardroom is being fitted up, with separate state-rooms for the officers, as is usual in all war vessels, while abaft this is a small apartment or cabin for the captain. Forward on this lower deck is what is called the berth deck for the accommodation of the crew. The Quaker City was coaling rapidly, and evidently does not intend remaining long in these waters. Our reporter inquired as to her officers, and was informed that they were all engaged. Her battery will probably be four 8-inch guns on a side and a Parrott rifle on the forecastle. She will, thus armed, be an ugly customer to encounter. The principal drawback to her efficiency is her great consumption of coal, burning, when urged to her best speed, about fifty tons a day.

The Quaker City did good service as a gunboat during the war, and at its close she was purchased from the Government, and again became a peaceful trader, running between this port and Charleston under the command of Captain West. Later she became famous as the pilgrim ship in which Captain Duncan and his band of devotees visited the historic localities of the Holy Land; but so immense was the ship's appetite for coal, and the pilgrims' appetite for edibles that, on her return, there was not money enough left to pay the sailors, who were forced to seize the ship for their wages. Her last voyage was to New Orleans, from which she had recently returned. Where she will go next, quien sabe?

Troops for the New Expedition.

The New York Times, in its account, publishes the following:—

Last evening it was currently reported that a new regiment, one thousand strong, was being raised, to be commanded by Colonel James Kerrigan, who was formerly conspicuously known as a Sixth ward politician, and who participated in the late war, besides being a member of Congress in 1861. He is regarded as a daring and adventurous man, and has unusual facilities for recruiting men among the rougher class of citizens. It is not considered improbable that he is ready to engage in the Cuban cause. A small number of printers and others, who are said to have enlisted in his enterprise, left Printing House square early last evening, and went to a drill-room in the upper part of Broadway, whose existence has not been publicly disclosed, where they were taught in the manual of arms, with which some of the men were already acquainted. Several Cuban ladies were expected to be present to encourage them in their desire to fight for Cuba. The drills are thought to be of nightly occurrence, and have been called to the attention of the Spanish Consul, who is supposed to have detectives on the qui vive for new developments concerning the revolutionary movements in this city.

The Spaniards Violating their Word of Honor.

The following extract is from an official despatch from the headquarters of the Cuban revolution:—

When Bayamo fell into the hands of the patriots, the garrison of that place capitulated, and bound themselves never to take up arms against the Cubans. These same soldiers and their officers, regardless of the pledge given when they surrendered, and of the kind treatment they received, have by degrees all returned to the enemy's ranks, and are to-day remarkable for their spirit of destructiveness and their acts of savage cruelty. Therefore, since the system of leniency which the Liberators have heretofore adopted meets in this case, as in all others, with inevitable treachery, the General-in-Chief of the Cuban Liberating Army, Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, sends to the President of the Central Republican Junta of Cuba and Porto Rico, established in the city of New York, a despatch addressed to General Domingo Dulce, threatening to enforce the decree of reprisals, already issued under date of the 8th of February, 1869, from the application of which he has thus far, for the sake of humanity, refrained.

F. J. BASSORA,
Secretary Republican Junta.

Valmaseda's Proclamation.

The Count of Valmaseda, who is indignant that the rebels on the island do not surrender, has issued the following order, an announcement of which was given in our telegraphic columns:—

Inhabitants of the Country:—The reinforcements I was waiting for have already arrived. With them I am going to afford protection to the good, and to chastise those who are still rebellious against the government of the metropolis.

You know that I have pardoned those who, with arms in their hands, have combated us; you are aware that your wives, mothers, and sisters have obtained from me a protection refused by yourselves and wondered at by them; you are aware also that many of those pardoned have again turned against me. In view of those excesses of such ingratitude and of so much villainy, it is no longer possible that I can be the man of yesterday; a lying mentality no longer suffices; he who is not with me is against me, and in order that my soldiers may know how to distinguish you, listen to the orders of which they are the bearers.

Every man, from the age of fifteen upward, who may be found absent from his home that cannot give a justifiable reason for having so absented himself, will be shot.

All villages found uninhabited will be burned by the troops.

All settlements where a white cloth is not displayed in form of a flag to signify that its inhabitants desire peace will be burned to ashes. The women who may not be found in their respective dwellings or in those of their friends, will be concentrated in the towns of Jiguani or Bayamo, where their maintenance will be provided for; those who do not comply with this order will be carried thither by force.

These commands will take effect from the 14th of the present month. THE COUNT OF VALMSEDA.

Bayamo, April 4, 1869.

War News.

Correspondence from Havana on the 1st instant contains the following:—

The Diario says the revolution is over; the Prensa says it is not; the Voz de Cuba wants more troops and severer measures, and the revolutionists are confident that they can stand it longer than the Spaniards, and will eventually wear them out. The brave and heroic Trinidad volunteers whipped the insurgents in a most terrible and decisive manner, vide the Diario, the Prensa, the Voz, and every Spaniard. They were scattered, dispersed, demoralized, and in open flight two weeks ago, but, nevertheless, they are in every nook and corner of the jurisdiction of Trinidad, fighting troops, volunteers, and everything else they come across, and making them seek shelter in the towns. The Governor of Trinidad is imitating the example of Valmaseda and a certain similarity of style in one of his proclamations. It appears that there is a regular plan to make all suspected persons come into the cities, his proclamation stating that all persons not actually needed and employed on the plantations shall come to Trinidad either voluntarily or be brought thither by force. This explains the reasons which I gave weeks ago for the reported disappearance of the Cubans, who quietly dispersed to their homes when a respectable force of troops is at hand.

In Santiago de Cuba the shooting continues, the last execution having been that of Mr. Delfin Aguilera, formerly in the ranks of the insurgents, but recently pardoned and provided with a safe conduct by Colonel Camora.

General Latone had returned from his expedition, and his exploits had been limited to the execution of two administrators of plantations, among them M. Bizet, a Frenchman. The Ramona farm, which the Spaniards captured and reported to be a regular fort, had been the camping-ground of the insurgents some time previous to Latone's arrival.

Americans Abused and Nearly Killed in Havana.

From the New London Star.

Mr. John M. Utley, late of the United States Consulate at Havana, and formerly of Hartford, is on a visit to his parents and friends in Middletown. He arrived home on Saturday last. His recent experience in Cuba has been both dangerous and exciting. It was announced some time ago that he was thrown into prison by the Cuban authorities on a trumped-up charge. Mr. Utley says that after remaining imprisoned for thirty-four days he was unconditionally released, the authorities acknowledging his arrest was without due cause. Subsequently he was twice assaulted by Spanish volunteers. The first time he received a severe blow from a bayonet on the back of his neck, and the second time a heavy blow by a like weapon on the left cheek, just below the eye, the mark of which latter wound he now bears. The first time he was assailed he was rescued from a violent death by a commissary of the police, who warded off the attack of the volunteers. When assaulted the second time, he was quietly standing in the vestibule of his hotel, looking at the crowd of soldiers and citizens in the plaza, when a volunteer stepped behind him, and, without any warning, dealt him a heavy blow with a bayonet. For days after his face was terribly swollen, and when he arrived in New York one eye was still closed from the effect of the wound. Although attached to the United States Consular office, he was subject to an irritating surveillance and occasional insults. At one time he was surrounded by the volunteers, and compelled to "hurrah for Spain," on threat of being summarily shot if he refused to do so.

NEW YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 8, 1869.

That virtuoso of victuals, Professor Blot, proposes giving culinary scances at all the fashionable and finishing young ladies' schools in New York. He has already begun, and is being warmly seconded by the newspapers in his endeavors to teach the young idea how to roast, boil, and fry. Whether this will materially increase, in Fifth avenue, the number of mistresses who know how to cook, may be a question, but I am certain that Professor Blot's lecture's will prove one of the most tittillating sensations of the hour, and that the Blanche Amories of Maury Hill, and where not, will confess to the personal seductiveness of this Gothamite Miribalant. For Blot is something more than a cuisinier. He cures as well as cooks. His sauces are sanitary as well as piquant, and his very hash, could he be guilty of such a thing, is hygienic. He provokes a culinary dilettantism. He satisfies the "curious in fish-sauce." I am not sure that he creates good cooks, but he diffuses a charming smattering of the kitchen. We may not drink very deeply of the Pierian spring he opens for us, but we have not found the little knowledge a taste gives us a dangerous thing. In fact, it is rather safe—when conversation is languid, and one's lovely partner is (not to put too fine a point on it) stupid.

Physicians and druggists are exercised to some extent over the law recently passed by the Legislature, prohibiting drug clerks from repeating prescriptions without authority from a physician. There is a good deal to be said in favor of the old plan, and there is a good deal to be said against it. The written prescription is in fact the property of the individual who took the trouble to procure it from a physician, and to pay for it. If the apothecary to whom it was originally taken refuses to renew it, the aggrieved individual has redress in his own hands, and only loses the time necessary for taking it to another druggist. Any one bent on suicide, and who hopes to compass it by a misuse of a doctor's recipe, will not assuredly be hindered by any law of this kind. At the same time the custom of indiscriminate renewals of prescriptions is very much abused. Take the case of bromide of potassium, preparations of which are given in nervous disorders, and which in itself is one of the safest and most soothing of reliefs. The unreasoning patient, hoping to gain from large doses a relief proportionate to that acquired from small ones, soon consumes in a day a quantity intended to last for a week, and goes on repeating the dose ad libitum. So with many preparations of opium. This class of cases is one where no legislation will do any good. The guilt is the guilt simply of imprudence; the punishment is personal to the offender. Nothing but experience or death will ever affect a cure.

Mr. Roebling, the engineer of the East river bridge, vows and declares that it will be commenced forthwith. The plans which have been presented meet with the approval of the Navy Department, and the objections of the old fogies that the bridge will be an obstruction to navigation have been successfully combated. The water-way as it exists at present will be in no manner lessened and, except with the largest class of vessels (and that in a very small degree) the navigation will not in the least be interfered with. The central roadway will be six hundred feet in width, and from one hundred and thirty-two and a half to one hundred and thirty-five feet in height. There be some people still who shrug their shoulders and say they will believe in the East river bridge when they see it; but I believe that, having become already an accomplished idea, it will sooner or later become an accomplished fact.

Passengers detained in quarantine at the lower bay declare that they have been vaccinated there by Swinburner against their will, and been submitted to the risk of contracting all sorts of terrible and loathsome diseases. Unfortunately for them, they are separated too quickly after their arrival at this port, and by too remote localities, for them to league together and lodge a formal complaint against the health officer. It is come the passengers that lately arrived here from Aspinwall in the Alaska, who are most obstreperous in their accusations; but then perhaps the virulence of the disease they were dreading had something to do with the virulence of their complaints. They say that as soon as they arrived in quarantine they were boarded by the health officer, who, casting his eyes over the crowded vessel, opined that he had a fat job before him, and announced his intention of vaccinating all hands—captain, crew, and passengers. Vaccinate them he did, consuming some four hours at the work, charging one dollar per head, and sending in a bill for four hundred dollars more than two hours before the vessel reached port. This was independent of the fumigation of the Alaska, for which of course the usual heavy fee was charged. Thus the passengers. Their threats, promises, exhortations on board ship were picturesque and vehement, but of no avail. Vaccinated they must be, on pain of being dropped by the way. Delicate and white-linbed women were put on a level with dropsical vagrants and scorbutic virago; and no wonder the health officer worked hard, for every puncture with the lancet was so much in his pocket. He bled the passengers in a double sense, and afterwards "fumigated" his way to fortune.

At the annual of the S. P. C. A. Mr. Bergh enjoyed a long-delayed opportunity for expressing his sentiments with respect to the act of Justice Dowling in refusing to try any further cruelty-to-anima cases, and made some merciful remarks about pigeon-shooting, which he classed with cock-fighting and bull-baiting. He had consulted the most eminent lawyers in the city with respect to turtles, and rejoiced turtles to find himself upheld by them in the idea that were "animals" and not "reptiles." The society is no longer a poor one. It has already had nearly half a million dollars bequeathed to it, and is in expectation of two hundred thousand dollars more. He thought that the career of the society hitherto resembled that of a wilful child; but it had been "spanked" in public so often now, that it gave every promise of becoming a nice sort of young fellow.

If Mumler had only been on hand with his photograph plates and camera we might have had the whole phantom Cuban expedition made visible to the naked eye and rendered fixed forever. Unfortunately, however, only the visionary bohemian was present, who, viewing things as he would wish to have them, got up sensation reports of what never existed, and gave a fresh impulse to dinner-table topics. The whole farrago about thousands of men and ammunition leaving this port for Cuba dwindles down to the fact that about a hundred adventurers hired two tugboats to transport them to a vessel awaiting them down the bay. Both the Spanish Consul and the Cuban authorities in the city are very reticent. All that the former admits is that the Spanish Government is constantly buying arms in this city, and all that the latter acknowledge is that they can find enough men for the patriot army without being compelled to open any recruiting offices in this city. At the same time it is not to be doubted that small parties of recruits have left this port within the past few months, and, repairing to some Southern port, have been shipped thence to their destination upon swift-sailing vessels.

Unless Little Red Riding Hood is postponed (which is not at all unlikely), to-night will be the last of Humpty Dumpty. This evening also Robinson Crusoe will be performed for the first time, and after two postponements, at Wood's Museum. The Tempest will be continued one week longer at Fisk's Opera House, where Victorien Sardou's new play of Patrie will be produced next Saturday night, with Mr. Davenport and Mrs. Gladstane in the principal roles. It is now positively determined that Mr. Fechter will appear next August, either late in that month, or early in September, at Fisk's. Mr. Tayleure effected an engagement with him during his recent visit to Europe, but is only allowing his brilliant negotiations there to drop out one by one. It is strange but true that a gentleman named Mr. Farnie is writing the words of the new burlesque which is to be produced at Niblo's. This fact is enough to convince one that talent is not always the most successful quality in this world. Personally Mr. Farnie may be very charming, and a most desirable friend and acquaintance. I have no reason to think otherwise; but as a writer of burlesque, as a rhymester and a wit, he is, in the opinion of critics, something rather worse than we have ever previously enjoyed on this side of the water. But such is life.

We were to have had the streets cleared of obstructions, but their present fulness brings one to the conclusion that the hope reposed in was a forlorn and delusive one. The boxes, barrels, and posts have come back to Broadway, and the Street Commissioners are held in as much defiance as ever.

ALI BABA.

THE BOURBON ROMANCE.

The Sequel to the Adventures of Prince Louis de Bourbon and the Cuban Belle—A Head of a Family Righteously Indignant.

On the 15th of March last Prince Louis Marie Ferdinand Pierre d'Alcantara, son of Count d'Aquila, the brother-in-law of the late King of Naples, cousin of Don Carlos, the aspirant to the Spanish throne, nephew to the Emperor of Brazil, and connected by other ties with half the other dethroned monarchs of Europe, made his appearance in this city, in company with Miss Amelie Isabel de Hamel, the daughter of Mr. John de Hamel, a well-known ship-broker of Havana, and a gentleman well known in this city as a frequenter of fashionable resorts, and a constant companion of many of our most fashionable citizens. The Prince and the fair Cuban, the latter accompanied and guarded by her mother, had come hither to be married, and this they hastened to do immediately on landing. But they found not a little difficulty in accomplishing their purpose; the first priest selected to perform the ceremony, Father Lafont, of the Church of St. Vincent de Paul, declined to do so on orders from Archbishop McCloskey; a civil marriage was decided upon; Mayor Hall happened to be absent from his office; and finally the noble parties were compelled to resort to Jefferson Market Police Court, where they were pronounced man and wife by Justice Dodge.

Now comes, after a blissful honeymoon of nearly two months, the cruel relatives of the bridgroom protesting against the marriage. Francis II, ex-King of Naples, having no other subjects than the sycophantic followers who share with him the charity of the Pope, which leaves him to spend the remnant of his miserable days in the Farnese Palace at Rome, considers himself the head of the family of Bourbon, and from his palace in Rome sends an angry protest against his marriage to the free and independent young citizen Bourbon in his comfortable rooms in the Clarendon Hotel of this free and independent city of New York. The protest declares the marriage null and void, and is accompanied by a threat of excommunication from the noble family of dethroned and impoverished monarchs who bear the name of Bourbon. The young prince is probably very little troubled by this threat, and will pay very little attention to the protest. He is said to be a very spirited young man, able to take care of himself, and not at all proud of his connection with the family which has produced in one generation a "Bomba," a Francis II, and an Isabella of Spain.

This marriage is thus far nearly a parallel with the famous Bonaparte-Patterson case. It will be remembered by those familiar with the history of the Bonapartes in America, that Jerome, the youngest brother of the great Napoleon, after his defeat in the West Indies by Toussaint L'Ouvreture, the famous negro General of Hayti, came to this city, and in 1803, visited Baltimore, where he met and married Miss Elizabeth Patterson, the beautiful daughter of a rich merchant of that city. After the French Empire was declared, he visited Europe with his wife, but Napoleon I, the head of the family, as in this case, refused to recognize the legality of the marriage, and "Miss Patterson," as the French authorities insisted on calling her, was not allowed to enter France. Miss Hamer will probably not be allowed to step foot in the Farnese palace. Indeed, Francis II may forbid her to enter the Naples he no longer controls; Isabella of Spain may warn her from the shores of that country which she has just fled from, and George of Hanover may request mildly, as becomes him, that she will not intrude herself into the Hanoverian domains which Bismark has swallowed. It was the Pope who forbade the celebration of the marriage in this city; and he may now, unlike his predecessor in the Patterson case, pronounce the marriage null and void; but as long as they are rich and happy in this free country, the bride and bridegroom can afford to laugh at the protests of their family and the curses of their Church.—N. Y. Times.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

Court of Quarter Sessions—Judge Brewster..

This morning Mr. Cassidy appeared in behalf of Hugh McAnany to argue the petition of his client for the remission of his forfeited recogizance in the case of James Haggerty. The petition set forth that McAnany, a respectable citizen, not a professional bail-goer, and ignorant in such matters, was induced to become bail in ten thousand two hundred dollars for Haggerty, without knowing anything whatever of the character of the latter; the default of Haggerty was not by any connivance of his, but was without his knowledge; he made every effort within his power to produce him, employing, at his own expense, persons to search every day for him, and at length succeeded, and Haggerty is now in prison; but during the prisoner's default the recognizance was forfeited, sued out, and execution was levied: and that if his property was sold it would bring ruin upon himself and family. Therefore he prayed relief.

The Judge referred to the fact that Officer Hill, upon whom Haggerty had been charged with assault and battery, with intent to kill, had apparently absconded. The indictment was ignored by the Grand Jury, in consequence of Hill's failure to testify before them, as before the committing magistrate, which led to the suspicion that he had been tampered with by the prisoner's friends. If the action of Mr. McAnany in going bail had given opportunity for this, he thought he should suffer for it, and not be relieved from the forfeiture of his bail. But if he could show to the Court what efforts he had made to arrest the prisoner, and that the witnesses for the prosecution had not been tampered with, the case might look better for him; therefore he would continue the matter, and grant a rule to take depositions on these subjects.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

Judge Ludlow, before whom Thomas Long was heard on habeas corpus, being charged with false pretences, delivered the judgment of the Court, discharging the relator.

In the new Court House, President Judge Allison and the jury were engaged this morning with a forcible entry and assault and battery case.

FROM NEW YORK.

Condition of the Money Market—Addance of United States Bonds in Europe—Financial Operations.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Private telegrams from London received here by several private bankers in Wall street this morning show an advance in the price of United States 5-20 bonds in the English market of fully one per cent., since the opening price was made public at 11 A. M. to-day by the Associated Press. There is now every indication that the flurry of yesterday in the bond and gold market here is about over, and the action of Secretary Boutwell, who, it is announced, will next week buy bonds, is likely to further increase the market prices in London and lessen the premium on gold in this market. The prices for gold last night on the street, after the closing of the beard, and this morning, before the official opening of bids, were very high, some quotations being made at as high a figure as 139½. The price now, at 11 A. M., is 138⅞, and the market is more steady. A prominent speculator in N.Y. Central yesterday purchased 11,000 shares of that company's stock at 171. He closed out his bargain before night at 178, having made over $70,000 clear by the operation. The revenue stamps required to legalize his transactions for the day amounted to over $700.

Murder of a Gambler Reported Fight Between the Indians.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

SALT LAKE, May 8.—A man named William McCoole was shot day before yesterday by John Sherman; both were gamblers. During the week the weather was warm; snow rapidly disappearing from the hills. It is reported here that forty Snake and Bannock Indians were overtaken by about two hundred Sioux, eighty miles from South Pass City, and twenty-nine Bannock and Snake Indians were killed. The loss of the Sioux is not reported.

FROM THE SOUTH.

A Prominent Republican Murdered in Georgia.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 8.—Information has been received here that Radford O. Rhodes, a prominent Republican of Warren county, was killed at his residence, near Warrenton, on Wednesday night. The last letters from that vicinity report continued outrages by prowling bands of Ku-Klux on both white and black Republicans. To be an avowed Republican in that county is a passport to death or violent outrage.

The New York Money Market.

From the Herald.

"The day in Wall street has been one of the most excited for many months, perhaps for several years. The transactions in all the markets were on an enormous scale, and characterized by the greatest animation. The chief feature was the sudden rise of over three per cent. in gold, the dealings in which were not less than one hundred and fifty millions of dollars. At one time a panic seemed imminent in the Stock Exchange, and there was a sudden and large 'drop' in prices; but a reaction ensued at a late hour in the afternoon, and the business closed with a better but not an entirely satisfied feeling. This sudden disturbance is to be traced remotely to the increase of the Bank of England rate of discount to four and a half per cent. on Thursday last. The great financial centre of the world is ever jealous of its monetary supremacy. With the threatened drain of money arising out of the numerous European loans negotiating in the London market, not to speak of the brisk speculation which has sprung up in United States securities, some prompt step was necessary to make money dearer in the English metropolis. Hence the advance in the rate of discount, which, according to other indices, is really below the open market rate of interest. Stocks were slow to feel this alteration. The decline yesterday was comparatively light. To-day, however, the truth of the situation seemed to break upon the minds of London financiers, and consols fell to 92⅛ for cash, and Five-twenties to a figure variously reported from 78 down to 76¾. The regular commercial report by cable was perfectly valueless in this crisis, and the only persons who were not working in the dark were those who had private telegrams direct from their foreign correspondents. It was this decline in bonds which first started the remarkable changes of to-day, and the effect is directly traceable throughout the several branches of Wall street business.

"Government bonds at the opening were heavy and lower in response to the first reports of a decline of one-half per cent. in five-twenties at London. Gold under this influence took an upward start immediately after the opening of the Gold Room. The rise in gold going to the other side of the Atlantic caused a further decline there in bonds, and the report which came back was given to the street with all sorts of amendments and additions, announcing among other things that there was a panic in London; that the Bank of England had advanced its discount rate still further; that immense foreign orders had been received to buy gold, and that the great powers of Europe had united in the offensive toward the United States in the matter of recognizing Cuban independence and suffering Cuban filibusters to leave our ports. That there has been considerable commotion in the London money market there is no doubt. But the cable informs us of a renewal of the Fenian outbreak in Ireland, and which is, probably, a prominent cause of the uneasiness, happening as it does at a moment when the foreign loans and the speculation in our securities have rendered the market quite active. Under the combination of these influences, as well as in consequence of the semi-official announcement from Washington that Secretary Boutwell, consistent in his policy of irresolution, was unwilling to exercise the privileges of the Sinking Fund act before the close of the fiscal year, Governments sank rapidly, until the '62s touched 117 and the '67s 114⅞, a decline of one and three-quarters per cent. From this point, however, there was a reaction, in consequence of the higher price of gold, and a recovery to much better figures at the close of business."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

OFFICE OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH,
Saturday, May 8, 1869.

The chief interest in money circles to-day seems centred in the precarious condition of our Bond and Gold markets. The former have, for several days past, suffered a steady decline in foreign markets, and a panic is not beyond the possibilities in view of the recent advance of the rate of interest by the Bank of England to 4½ per ct.; the unfriendly feeling existing between the two countries on the Alabama question, and the bellicose spirit exhibited in Congress on the subject. The excitement in gold yesterday is represented as very great in New York, and in view of the prospect of a further break in our Federal securities it appears natural enough, for with a stoppage of bond shipments we shall have to submit to a heavy weekly drain of gold to meet the enormous balance of trade against us.

The loan market is quite active, but without any other feature worthy of change. The rates for call loans are easy at 5@7 per cent., and discounts at 6@8 per cent. for prime acceptances.

Government securities opened weak, but at 12 M. showed a slight improvement in price. Gold is very excited, lots being sold before business hours at 139⅞. The opening sales were made at 138¾, and the premium now stands at 137⅞, and firm.

There was not much activity in the Stock market to-day, and prices generally were lower.

Nothing was done in State or City loans. 101⅝ was bid for the new City 6s, and 98 for the old. The Lehigh Gold loan was steady at 94.

Reading Railroad was quiet and declined 3-16@¼, closing at 47¾. Pennsylvania Railroad was nominal at 55½@55⅝. Camden and Amboy Railroad changed hands at 129. 48 was bid for Little Schuylkill Railroad; 35 for North Pennsylvania Railroad; and 35½ for Catawissa Railroad preferred.

Canal stocks were neglected.

Coal shares attracted but little attention. Sales of Shamokin at 54.

In Bank shares the only transaction was in North America at 235.

Passenger Railway stocks were unchanged. 18 was offered for Thirteenth and Fifteenth; 27 for Spruce and Pine; 38½ for Green and Coates; 60 for West Philadelphia; and 13½ for Hestonville.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

From the N. Y. Herald.

All our recent intelligence from Europe shows that, though the war cloud has not yet burst, the sunshine of security does not rest upon the border lands of France and Prussia. There has been no lack of peace speeches in France; nor has there been any violent manifestation of bellicose tendencies in Prussia. But while M. de la Valette accepts the situation in Germany, and while King William congratulates M. de la Valette for his peaceful sentiments, both Napoleon and Bismark reveal their distrust by providing, as best they can, for the contingencies of the future.

It is impossible to mistake the meaning of certain recent public acts of the French Emperor. To make war a prominent question of the hour would be dangerous. It would tell injuriously against the government at the elections now so close at hand. Hence the peace policy of the present. To carry with him triumphantly the votes of the French people—this is Napoleon's immediate purpose. Mark how he paves the way to success. The Livret or Pass Book system was a perpetual nuisance to the workingman. It was an ever-present policeman watching all his movements. It was a government spy which practically robbed him of his individual liberty. The workman hated the Livret, but without it he could not live. Napoleon has abolished this system, has set the workman free and secured his vote. Napoleon has done many clever things in his day, but, in view of present exigencies, this is one of the cleverest things he has done. This, however, is not all. If the French have a weakness it is their passion for military glory. The new army law, it is true, has never been largely in favor; but while this may prove that the French people are settling down with increasing delight to the cultivation of the arts of peace, it certainly does not prove that they are forgetful of the glories of the past. Forty thousand veterans of the First Empire still survive. By way of marking the hundredth birthday of Napoleon the First, Napoleon the Third has resolved very considerably to increase the pensions of those forty thousand veterans. There has been some grumbling among the oppositionists, but the proposal is unmistakably popular all over France, and it cannot fail to have a powerful influence in favor of the Government at the elections. We say again that the great object of Napoleon is to triumph at the elections—to prove once more to Europe and the world that France is with him. It is scarcely to be doubted that his object will be accomplished. He has made his moves with such skill that failure is next to impossible. The elections over, will this peace policy continue?

That is the question which many minds are now seriously asking themselves, but which few find themselves competent to answer. We have said already that Count Bismark is not deceived by peace manifestations. In the North German Parliament, the other day, he made a speech which furnishes us with a key to his thoughts. A resolution had been introduced by a prominent member in favor of a responsible ministry for the Northern Confederation. Count Bismark opposed the resolution, and in the course of his speech clearly showed that he is not in favor of too much centralization. His fear was that such a step, while it would de-Prussianize Prussia, would alienate the sympathies of South Germany. It would deepen and widen the Main and would practically be shutting the door in the face of the Southern States. "The South German," he says, "faces the danger and fights like a brave soldier when he stands on the spot where the law has placed him; but if he must risk his person on his own responsibility, he ponders a long time before he does it." It is perfectly manifest from these words, and, indeed, from the whole tenor of his speech, that Bismark has come to the conclusion that Prussia must not be sunk in Germany; that the unity of Germany must not be accomplished by and through Prussian ascendancy, but that the unity and common sympathy of the German people will be more effectually secured by a loose and easy confederation than by a confederation too closely united. South Germany, the Count seems to think, will be a better bulwark to the North if not too closely pressed into union. Any attempt to Prussianize Germany or to force a general union would produce discontent in the South, and discontent in the South would beckon France to the Rhine. This conclusion of the Count is no doubt largely the result of a conviction on his part that war with France is a probability. How best to unite Germany against France in the event of probable attack is Bismark's present policy.

This conclusion of the Prussian Prime Minister is already known in Paris, and M. de la Valette has alluded to it as a reason for belief in the continuance of peace. Much, however, will depend on the result of the elections. France may become arrogant and aggressive, and she may not. It is certain that Prussia will not be the attacking party. The danger is that the belief may grow that Prussia has sustained a check in Germany, and that the idea of German unity has been abandoned. Such a belief becoming general in France might act as a spur to the aggressive tendencies of the French people. So long as "the flowery banks of the Rhine" tempt French cupidity, and so long as it is necessary for the Emperor to humor French vanity, so long, we fear, must peace or war be an open question. We cannot tell what a day or an hour may bring forth.

NEUTRALITY IN CUBAN AFFAIRS.

From the N. Y. World.

If the Cuban demonstration in this city a few evenings since shall tend to satisfy President Grant how senseless it would be for him to follow the advice of Mr. Sumner, and make the Queen's proclamation of May 13, 1861, a casus belli, if not apologized and atoned for by England, it will not have been altogether in vain. The main object of that meeting was to promote, by the Federal Government, what is called in one of the resolutions "recognizing the Cuban revolutionary government so as to secure to it the rights of a belligerent nation." It was to this point, next the lively interest this country has always felt in Cuba, and the purpose never to let the island pass into the hands of any other European power, that Mr. McKean addressed his remarks. His quotations from Grotius, Hubner, Webster, and Phillimore were apt as to the right of a neutral nation to judge for itself when its own interests are so far affected by a rebellion as to require a definition by proclamation of its relation to the contending parties.

Assume that President Grant, inspired by the moral force of the recent demonstration or the eloquence of Mr. McKeon, enters upon an inquiry into the condition of the Cuban insurgents, to ascertain whether they have a de facto political organization, sufficient in character, population, and resources to constitute a State if left alone and with the power of Spain withdrawn; whether they have a sufficiently complete military force acting according to rules of war, and adequate military preparations; whether prisoners on either side are treated as prisoners of war; whether they control a seaport or have naval cruisers; whether our own vessels may be drawn into complications; whether, in a word, the elements exist which can in the forum of nations justify a declaration that they are entitled a recognition of full belligerent rights. Assume, also, that President Grant comes to a conclusion in their favor, and issues a proclamation similar in legal effect to that issued by the Queen May 13, 1861, which declared existence of hostilities, perfect neutrality between the contending parties, and to that end prompt enforcement of the pains and penalties of the Neutrality law of 1818. And then assume that Spain were as powerful as we, and should propose to make such a proclamation a casus belli if we did not apologize and atone therefor. What would President Grant and the country do and say? Would we not reply that, of the time for such a proclamation the United States was sovereign judge; that its own conscience and sense of public duty were supreme as to the necessity or propriety of such an act; and that Spain was only entitled to hold us responsible for faithful execution of the neutrality we had declared? Would not every self-respecting nation be bound to make such a reply?

The friends of Cuba need to reflect what will be the consequence of recognition of belligerent rights in the insurgents and a declaration of neutrality on the part of the United States, if President Grant, unlike Earl Russell, is honest in maintaining the thing declared. Impartial neutrality between the insurgents and Spain might not, after all, be so pleasant for the former or their friends. Our neutrality laws, enforced with as much vigor as Mr. McKeon executed them as Federal Attorney in this city in Nicaragua times, would put the agents of the Cuban Liberals in New York, who hire or enlist persons here to fight against Spain, in an awkward predicament. When President Grant declares war to exist in Spain, with full belligerent rights to both sides, then Spain can stop and search our ships on the high seas for contraband of war, which now cannot be done; and even institute a blockade of the island, with power to pursue and capture on the ocean all who attempt to violate it. Honest neutrality is of very little advantage to an insurgent people and very little injury to the parent government. It is only a dishonest neutrality, like that of England from 1861 onward, which works the opposite results.

There was a time, however, when Great Britain did not permit her territory to be made a base and starting point for military expeditions against a friendly power, and her conduct then may be worth the study of President Grant. It was in the struggle between Donna Maria and her uncle, Don Miguel, for the throne of Portugal. Great Britain recognized the former as rightfully queen, and proclaimed neutrality. An expedition sailed from Plymouth, ostensibly for Brazil, but, as it afterwards appeared, really for Terceira, an island belonging to Queen Maria. When the Government ascertained that the expedition was hostile to Donna Maria, had violated English law, infringed its neutrality, and fraudulently escaped, it despatched a naval force with orders to intercept the expedition and prevent its landing, and this was done (blank shots being unavailing) by firing balls by which persons were killed. The expedition did not land. The act was brought up in Parliament, but the Ministry defended it on the ground that the expedition was warlike, fitted out fraudulently, and neutral obligations compelled a preventing of the disembarkation of the force. A decided majority in each house of Parliament sustained the Government.

How strikingly different was the conduct of the Ministry in reference to those Anglo-Rebel cruisers fitted out in England in violation of internation and municipal law, and received with open arms of friendly hospitality in her ports after their career of plunder and death!

In the affair of the Terceira expedition, the Duke of Wellington was a part, if not at the head, of the English Ministry. Will President Grant follow his example of the way to promptly discharge neutral obligations in respect to the recent Cuban expedition from this port?

THE MAYOR OF CORK.

From the N. Y. Times.

The English Government seems to be greatly perplexed as to what to do with the troublesome Mayor of Cork, who will persist in abusing England, threatening the Government, sympathizing with Fenians, and making himself generally obnoxious. He has hitherto carefully abstained from bringing himself within the reach of the laws of treason-felony, but he has none the less been a thorn in the side of the British authorities. Cork has been the headquarters of the Fenian agitation since its commencement. Its population is notoriously inflammable, and easily excited to acts of violence against the "base and brutal Saxon," and His Worship the Mayor has certainly been coming it pretty strong against the English rule of late. The matter has at last become serious enough to demand the attention of Parliament, and a bill has been introduced by the Attorney-General for Ireland to remove the Mayor from the bench of City Magistrates, of which he is ex-officio chairman. This is an extreme step to take, and though prepared by the Gladstone Ministry, and certain to be supported by a large majority both of Liberals and Tories, Mr. Disraeli—always tenacious of constitutional rights and prescriptive customs—seemed to doubt as to the strict correctness of the proceeding.

It certainly seems unfortunate that at the present moment, when every effort is being made, consistently with the necessary constitutional and legal formalities, to remove all grounds of grievance from Irishmen qua Catholics, and when there is little doubt but that next session will see the passage of a measure designed to mitigate, if not to remove, the evils of the existing system of land tenure in Ireland, that a firebrand like the bellicose Mayor of Cork should have seized the occasion to excite the too inflammable feelings of his townsmen, and to force the English Government into an attitude of apparent hostility towards the sister island. After the sentiments, however, which he expressed at the recent dinner given to two released Fenians, we do not see how the British Government could be expected to allow him to retain a seat on a judicial bench from which he might at any moment be called upon to pronounce a decision in cases in which his unconcealed animus against English rule would render him unfit to act as a representative of the Crown. It is therefore unfortunate, we repeat, that an affair of this kind should have occurred just now; but we do not suppose that anything beyond local troubles—if any at all—are likely to ensue, or, at all events, to seriously retard the pacification of Ireland, now progressing so happily.

TOO MANY IRONS.

From the N. Y. Times.

The French have a very old, very well-tested, and very true proverb—Qui trop embrasse mal etreint—whose pith we express somewhat less generally and less positively when we say a man has "too many irons in the fire."

A nation, like an individual, can have too many irons in the fire, and may attempt to clasp more than it can well hold; and our "universal" Yankee nation seems at this moment to be precisely one of this sort. We have just now in the fire the Canada iron, the Cuba iron, the Mexican iron, the West Indian iron—not to speak of several domestic irons, such as the national debt iron, the reconstruction iron, the internal improvement iron, the Plains Indian iron, and many more irons, which lie all together in the fire, and beg in vain for the forge. Or, to take the French figure again, while Mr. Medill begs us to "embrace" Canada, Mr. Banks asks us to embrace Hoyti and San Domingo, Mayor Hall to embrace Cuba, Mr. Robinson to embrace Ireland, while many other gentlemen pressingly present the claims respectively of Crete, the Sandwich Islands, St. Thomas, Sonora, Sinaloa, Chihuahua, California, Central America, and the Cannibal Islands—all to be embraced at once in the clutch of long-armed Uncle Sam. This multiplicity and urgency is quite confusing—couldn't it be so arranged that we shall have one war and one annexation at a time?

THE USE OF RICH MEN.

From the N. Y. Sun.

Men who devote themselves to the accumulation of money are so often guilty of all sorts of meanness and fraud in accomplishing their purpose, that it is not surprising to find them as a class the objects of popular disfavor. Indeed, we have Scriptural authorship for considering them as less inclined to virtuous habits of thought and action than persons of more moderate worldly acquisitions; and experience shows that an excessive love of money hardens the heart, blunts the sensibilities, and obliterates all the nicer perceptions of the distinctions between right and wrong.

Yet, in spite of this indisputable truth, there is a light in which rich men may be regarded as really valuable to the community, if not to themselves. It has been so ordered by the Great Ruler of the world that, as a general thing, no one can acquire wealth without in some way rendering service to his fellow-beings. If he sends his ship across the ocean on a commercial venture, he can get no profit out of the voyage unless the goods those ships both carry and bring minister to the necessities or promote the comfort of those who are expected to buy them. He cannot establish a manufactory and make it yield him the money he covets unless his productions are such as a large number of people think it to their advantage to use. He builds railroads and establishes steamship lines for the conveyance of passengers and freight, but unless his enterprises are needed they come to nothing but failure. The ability to make a fortune, therefore, implies an ability to discern people's wants and to supply them; and though we may think ill of the avaricious motives that keeps the machinery in motion, we should be foolish to despise its results.

Besides this, as we all know, money breeds money. John Jacob Astor used to say that the getting of his first thousand dollars cost him more pains than that of all his fortune besides. With large pecuniary means at his command, a man can attempt and carry out successfully schemes which would otherwise prove abortive. This principle is distinctly recognized when we seek to combine in the hands of an incorporated company little driblets of capital which of themselves would be of insignificant account. Indeed, the single rich man, holding absolute control of the same amount of property, will employ it more efficiently than a company, because of the concentration of authority its possession gives him. There are many kinds of business which no company can conduct so well as an individual, for this very reason.

Then, too, in the carrying on of his enterprises, a rich man, in spite of himself, provides employment for hundreds of persons who but for him might seek it in vain. He will grind down their wages, to be sure, to the lowest possible point, but he must pay what he agrees to pay, and thus at least furnish the half loaf which, as the proverb says, is better than no bread. Look through the country, and see if this be not so—if there are not thousands in every direction who depend upon some rich man for the work from which they derive their subsistence.

Of course, we owe no thanks to most of our millionaires for the good they accomplish. They are looking out for their own interests, and only promote ours because they cannot help it. But when we are disposed to murmur at their being permitted to hold so much wealth, it may be of comfort to us to remember that, after all, they do not get the exclusive benefit of their possessions. They cannot live in all the houses they own, nor consume all the luxuries they control, but they are forced to let others partake with them. What they ought to do is to recognize this fact themselves, and, making a virtue of necessity, curb their avarice, and govern their conduct by just and generous principles. In this way only can they, with all their riches, be of use of themselves; whereas, if they take a contrary course, they are like beasts of burden, valuable only for their ability to carry loads, which sooner or later they must lay down for others to take up.

SOFA BED.

HOVER'S PATENT COMBINATION SOFA BED

is decidedly the best Sofa Bed ever invented. It can be extended from a Sofa into a handsome French Bedstead, with hair spring mattress, in ten seconds of time. It requires no unscrewing or detaching, has no separation between back and seat, no cords to break, and no hinged foot attached to the top of the back to support it when down, which is unsafe and liable to get out of repair. It has the conveniences of a bureau for holding clothing, is easily managed and it is impossible for it to get out of order.

Price about the same as an ordinary sofa.

NOTICE.—THE UNDERSIGNED would call the attention of the public to his NEW GOLDEN EAGLE FURNACE.

This is an entirely new heater. It is so constructed as to once commend itself to general favor, being a combination of wrought and cast iron. It is very simple in its construction, and is perfectly air-tight; self-cleaning, having no pipes or drums to be taken out and cleaned. It is so arranged with upright flues as to produce a larger amount of heat from the same weight of coal than any furnace now in use. The hygrometric condition of the air as produced by my new arrangement of evaporation will at once demonstrate that it is the only Hot Air Furnace that will produce a perfectly healthy atmosphere.

Those in want of a complete Heating Apparatus would do well to call and examine the Golden Eagle.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The City Amusements.

AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC Fra Diavolo will be performed at the matinee to-day by the Richings troupe.

On Monday Mr. S. Behrens, the popular and able musical director, will have a benefit, when The Bohemian Girl will be given, with an increased orchestra and Miss Susan Galton in the role of "Arline." The original overture will be performed, and Miss Galton will sing as the finale the aria, "Ah! don't mingle," from Sonnambula.

AT THE WALNUT the drama of The Lottery of Life and the burlesque of Pocahontas will be performed this evening, with Mr. John Brougham in both pieces.

On Monday Mr. Brougham's new burlesque of Much Ado About the Merchant of Venice will be produced, and the performance will conclude with a domestic drama entitled The Poop Shoe Man.

AT THE ARCH Lotta will appear this afternoon and evening in her new drama of Pepina.

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE a matinee will be given to-day, when Lischen and Fritzchen and Les Deux Aveugles will be given. In the evening Jessie Lea and Les Deux Aveugles will be performed. Between the operas Mr. E. Kelleher and Mr. J. Clarke will give a song and ballad.

AT THE AMERICAN a matinee will be given, when all the artists will appear in an attractive variety entertainment.

THE NEW YORK CIRCUS, under the management of L. B. Lent & Co., will commence a season of two weeks on Monday, on Eighth street, above Race. This establishment is the most complete of any in the country, and the management promise to give a series of first-class performances, entirely free from any objectionable features.

Two performances, afternoon and evening, will be given on Monday, and matinees will be given every day during the stay of the company in the city, which will positively be limited to two weeks.

THE SENTZ-HASSLER ORCHESTRA will give the last matinee of the season at Musical Fund Hall to-day.

NEWS SUMMARY.

City Affairs.

—John Platt was appointed yesterday by Mayor Fox Lieutenant of the Fourteenth district, in place of George W. Dungan.

—A large meeting of journeymen plumbers was held last evening at Painters' Hall, Eighth and Locust streets, with a view of ascertaining the true position of the members of the association in relation to the strike for higher wages, $3·50 per day. It was reported that, out of the number of members rated at $3·50 per day, nearly all had received the advance and are now employed. A communication was read from members rated at $4 per day, who had gone to New York in quest of employment, stating that immediately after arriving there they found employment at $4·25 per day, and have a fair prospect of a continuance at this rate. A number of new members were elected, after which an adjournment took place.

Domestic Affairs.

—Gold closed yesterday at 137⅞.

—Cable charges will be reduced June 1.

—Muzzle the dogs, or they will be shot.

—Too numerous—highwaymen down town.

—This spring's whaling prospects are considered poor.

—All the special agents of the Treasury have been appointed.

—Commandants of navy yards are instructed to obey all orders issued by Admiral Porter.

—Yesterday morning the American Whip Manufactory, at Westfield, Mass., was destroyed by fire. Loss, $10,000.

—In honor of the completion of the Union Pacific Railroad, all business will be suspended on Monday in San Francisco.

—An actor was arrested in New York, yesterday, charged with obtaining money on forged paymasters' bounty checks.

—Secretary Fish wants Marshal Barlow to watch the movements of all vessels suspected of having Cuba for their destination.

—Brooks, one of the Brodhead murderers, was recaptured near Port Jervis, N. Y., on Wednesday, but made his escape a short time afterwards.

—King Kamehameha narrowly escaped having his skull broken by a cocoanut, while promenading in a grove adjoining his country seat, recently.

—Secretary Boutwell will purchase one million dollars' worth of 5-20s per week, and has directed the Assistant Treasurer at New York to receive proposals therefor.

—Stewed dried apples were served up to the Ward party of Northerners on their travels through Florida, although strawberries, oranges, etc., were in abundance.

—On Wednesday and Thursday next the Thirty-seventh Annual Convention of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity will be held at New Haven, Conn., Hon. William S. Groesbeck orator, and Rev. J. N. Tarbox poet for the occasion.

Foreign Affairs.

MADRID, May 7.—The Directory is proposed to consist of Serrano, Rivero and Olozaga, with Prim at its head as President and Minister of War.

CORK, May 7.—The Town Council to-day adopted a protest against the bill introduced in the House of Commons disabling Mr. O'Sullivan, the present Mayor of the city, from performing the functions of a magistrate. They also resolved to engage counsel to oppose the bill. O'Sullivan is announced as a candidate for the House of Commons from Youghal.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 7.—On the 5th of May, the first day of the Mohammedan New Year, the Sultan received the Ministers from foreign powers, in Constantinople, in a body, and made an address of the most pacific character. He referred with satisfaction to the favorable settlement of the difficulties with Greece, the pacification of Crete, and the friendly relations of Turkey with all foreign powers. He said he should continue to insist on economy in the administration, the improvement of judicial procedure, the extension of the railway system, and the equal participation of all classes of his subjects in the obligations and benefits of these reforms. The Cretan chieftains have been pardoned and set free.

HAVANA, May 7.—The journals of to-day publish accounts of several engagements between the troops under Count Valmaseda and the Cuban forces. The Spaniards claim a victory. Captain-General Dulce, accompanied by a battalion of volunteers, visits Matanzas on Sunday. The flag-ship Contoocook sailed to-day.

LONDON, May 7—Midnight.—The House of Commons has finished the consideration of the Irish Church bill in committee.

In the House of Lords to-night the Marquis of Salisbury wanted to know if the government indorsed the policy advocated by Mr. Bright, that the people must be placed in possession of land in Ireland in greater numbers. He said the present uncertainty as to the position of the government on the land question was very injurious. Earl Granville, in reply, said he must decline to open the question. A bill on the subject would be introduced at the next session. He assured the House that the government would maintain the rights of property.

LONDON, May 7.—The Times says that England endeavored to do justice to all parties during the late Rebellion, and must decline to acknowledge any other motive for her action. She has offered to submit to arbitration the question whether she has been culpably negligent, but she cannot go further. Extravagant misrepresentations were necessarily the basis for such policy as is foreshadowed in Mr. Sumner's speech. The Times concluded by assuring Americans that it will prove a failure.

The Telegraph promises that England will give an attentive ear to reasonable propositions, but will not listen to novel pretensions. If no solution is now practicable, she will leave the questions at issue to the influences of time and mature judgment of the American people for adjustment.

The City Contest.

The above matter was resumed yesterday afternoon before the examiners.

Edward Paul testified that he voted at this election in the Second division of the First ward; he had lived in this division for twenty-two years, and knew no other Edward Paul. (There were two on the list of voters, and but one assessed.)

John B. Thomas testified that he was the judge of the election of the Ninth division of the First ward; the judges met at Bouvier's house, at the corner of Moyamensing avenue and Greenwich street, to make their returns; he did not attend that meeting; on his way there, at about 10 o'clock the next morning, he was set upon by a crowd of men, not quite half a square above Bouvier's house, knocked down and his papers taken from him; these papers he still has at home; when he was going to Bouvier's to make his returns as an election officer to the meeting of the judges, he was so hurt as to be unable to work for two or three days; when they knocked him down one of them cried, "You ——, that's what we want—your papers."

Charles Brownholtz testified that he was at the polls of the Second division of the First ward at this election for a few moments; saw a large crowd about the polls, that appeared to be wild and spoiling for a fight; was ordered away by a man named Pogue; he left, and when about up to Reed street saw the crowd rush, and heard the firing of pistols.

Frederick Waldo ttstified that at this election he lived at No. 1645 South Front street; none but his family lived there. Samuel Sharpley lived there before witness moved in, on the 15th of September. (Edward Calon was assessed here and on the voters' list, as was also Samuel Sharpley.)

Bernard Devine testified that, at this election, he lived at the corner of Otsego and Moore streets, in the Tenth division of the First ward; voted the Democratic ticket; was at the polls nearly all day; there were a great many strange faces there; the Democratic window-book keeper would say, "I can't find this man's name;" the Republican would say, "All right, I've got it;" this continued all day; during the day several were taken out of the line and carried off by the special policemen; they were doing nothing but trying to vote; James Connelly and Augustus Sennamon were among those so taken; the former lived in Moore street, below Otsego; the latter lived somewhere in that neighborhood; there were more men there than there usually are; those who did not belong there appeared to be creating all the disturbance; witness has been voting in that division for eleven years; there is no other Bernard Devine in that division. (There were two on the list of voters and but one on the assessment list.) Adjourned until Monday afternoon.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Capt. Westhaven, of the British brig Alpha, at Baltimore, from Arecibo, says:—On the night of the 15th ult., a heavy swell, accompanied with strong wind and rain, obliged all the shipping at Arecibo to slip their cables and go to sea, viz.—Brig Alpha, brig Chattanooga, brig Two Marys, schr Madeira, and a Spanish schooner, name unknown, some of which had not returned on the 20th. I take the liberty of observing here that Arecibo is considered a dangerous port. Being an open roadstead and bad anchorage, vessels should never anchor there unless with good ground tackling, at least seventy-five fathoms of chain cable, and take every precaution to be ready to slip and stand out to sea at a moment's warning. Vessels frequently become wrecked here and are always a total loss, and sometimes accompanied with heavy loss of life. Some nationalities (French) are not allowed to anchor there.

CHAMPION SAFES!
UNSUCCESSFUL BURGLARY.
LETTER OF MESSRS. DAVID DOWS & CO.
NEW YORK, April 10, 1869.
HERRING, FARREL & SHERMAN,
No. 251 Broadway.
Gents:—On the night of the 22d ultimo, our store, No. 20 South street, was entered, and a desperate attempt made by burglars upon one of your safes in our counting-room.
The key to the safe in which we kept our securities was locked inside of our fire-proof book safe, the doors of which were literally cut to pieces; from this they obtained the key to the other safe and opened it. Fortunately we had one of your Burglar-Proof Banker's Chests inside, in which our valuables were deposited. This they went to work at with a will, and evidently used up all their time and tools in vain attempts to force it. The night was dark and stormy, and the fact of their knowing where our key was kept shows that their plans were well matured. They tried wedging the door and body of the Chest, and the faithful safe bears evidence of the labor and skill devoted to the work. All was useless, and it is with great satisfaction we report that upon opening it we found our securities all safe, and can therefore cheerfully indorse the Burglar-Proof work recommended by you.
You will please send the new safe purchased by us to our counting-house, and take the old one, to show that some safes are still manufactured worthy of the name.

FIRE. SKATING RINK. FIRE.
STILL ANOTHER GREAT VICTORY FOR WATSON'S SAFES.
Messrs. J. WATSON & SON:—
GENTLEMEN:—We had one of your well-known and celebrated Fireproof Safes, with the inside door improvement, in the fire that destroyed the Philadelphia Skating Rink on Thursday night, the 29th instant. The safe was exposed to an intense heat, melting off the brass knobs and plates. On opening the safe, we found all our books, money, and papers in perfect condition, and to our great satisfaction.
Yours, respectfully,

CRIME AND INDUSTRIAL IGNORANCE.

THE report of the Inspectors of the Eastern Penitentiary abounds with evidence that one of the surest safeguards against a criminal career is early instruction in a useful trade. This lesson is repeated in so many forms that it should make a deep impression upon the community, and attract the attention of parents who wish to insure the integrity of their offspring as well as of those who desire to promote the general welfare.

More than five-sixths of the prisoners who have been confined since the penitentiary was first opened were convicted of crimes against property, the total number of criminals of this class being 5227 against 1001 convicted of crimes against persons. Larceny, burglary, horse-stealing, counterfeiting, and forgery have been resorted to as a means of livelihood by persons who had no inbred horror of crime, and little or no accurate knowledge of lucrative useful avocations. The total number of convicts for larceny reached 2932, for burglary 556, for horse-stealing 297, for passing counterfeit money 242, for forgery 195, for robbery 138, for burglary and larceny 120, for passing and having counterfeit money 42, and for counterfeiting 32; and the moving cause of nearly all these crimes was the belief that they would furnish the easiest method of providing for daily necessities.

It was at one time supposed that the general diffusion of education would greatly diminish crime, but education is by no means a sure specific, and its influence has been overrated. Of 6228 convicts, 3932, or nearly two-thirds, could read and write (and their number includes 32 "well instructed"), 1045 could read, and only 1251 were illiterate. The rapid increase in the number of common schools has not been accompanied by a corresponding diminution in crime, and all hopes based on the idea that the instruction they impart will destroy the vicious propensities of the rising generation are delusive.

Neither can we lay the flattering unction to our souls that the criminals are not generally of native birth. Other lands have contributed, it is true, to an undue proportion of the population of the penitentiary, the figures being 4695 Americans to 1533 foreigners, and of the 4695 Americans, 1656 were not born within the limits of the State, but 3039, or nearly one-half of the whole number, were to the manor born.

It is commonly said that intemperance fills our prisons, and its demoralizing influence cannot be denied. Still it is by no means the sole cause of crime, and the penitentiary statistics state that of 6228 convicts 1471 were abstainers, 2573 moderate drinkers, 1090 sometimes intoxicated, and 1094 often intoxicated—a record which does not differ very widely from that which would result from a minute inquiry into the habits of an equal adult population in some localities where odious crimes are rarely perpetrated.

The moral instructor of the prison states that of the inmates during last year, eighty per cent. claim that their parents were church members, and thirty-nine per cent. acknowledge that they were reared up under good home influences, but only a small proportion (sixteen per cent.) had been regular attendants of Sunday Schools, and sixty-seven per cent. had never attended these institutions. He contends that "common school and home training must go hand in hand," and that it should not only be "combined with Sabbath School instruction," but also with "the discipline of regular employment" and "skilled occupation."

While the prison abounds with "abstainers" as well as the victims of intemperance; while it confines "well-educated" rogues as well as illiterate rascals, Americans as well as foreigners, the children of religious parents and Sunday School pupils as well as the offspring of criminals, the moral instructor says:—"It is a rare exception to find a good mechanic in prison." The Warden, in his report, gives a further illustration of this statement by his announcement that when the work on the extension to the prison was commenced he was anxious to avail himself of the labor of the convicts, but that "out of six hundred who were then in the institution, but one was found who could perform the part of a stone-mason, and not one who had a sufficient knowledge of bricklaying or carpentering to enable them to hold the position of a moderately fair journeyman at either of these branches of business. But two men could dress stone passably, both of whom had learned in other prisons."

The industrial relations of the convicts committed during 1868 are reported to be as follows—unapprenticed, 205; apprenticed and left, 31; apprenticed and served until 21 years of age, 17; total, 253. Thus, only one convict out of fifteen had served a regular apprenticeship, and the bulk of those committed were but poorly qualified to earn an honest livelihood. While the importance of moral and secular instruction, temperate habits, and good associations cannot be overestimated, it is manifest that crimes against property will not cease while so large a proportion of the population are suffered to grow up in ignorance of useful industrial pursuits, and while the community contains so many unproductive members.

A LIGHT IN THE EAST.

THE address of the Sultan to the ministers from foreign powers in Constantinople, when they waited upon him on the Mohammedan New Year's day, May 5, is one of the most encouraging evidences of a new order of things in the East that has appeared for a long time. The Sultan said that he would insist upon economy in the administration of the government, the improvement of judicial procedure, the extension of the railway system, and the equal participation of all classes in the obligations and benefits of the reforms which he has undertaken to bring about. He referred to the favorable settlement of the difficulties with Greece, to the pacification of Crete, and the friendly relations of Turkey with all foreign powers; and as an earnest of his intention to pursue a wise, moderate and liberal policy, the Cretan chieftains have been pardoned and set free.

The efforts of the Sultan to give his countrymen the advantages of all the appliances of modern civilization, so far as they are suited to the habits and character of the people, are clearly due to the visit which he made a year or two ago to Western Europe, and to the impressions made upon him by what he saw with his own eyes of the practical workings of modern European civilization. It was a long step in advance for the Sultan to make such a journey; and it is gratifying to see that he has the will to institute those reforms which are absolutely necessary if Turkey is to retain for any length of time her standing as an independent nation. It is well that these reforms should be commenced by the Turks themselves; and if the Sultan's ideas are carried out by his subordinates in the same spirit as they are proposed by him, we will have a right to expect the downfall of Oriental barbarism and the commencement of a new era of civilization and enlightenment in the far East.

PARIS rivals New York as an undesirable place to live in. The exorbitant prices of apartments have rendered certain neighborhoods uninhabitable by any except millionaires, or "the friends of the Emperor." The following official list of the rents of certain houses has been recently published, and will, in a measure, show that the leaseholders do not, after all, realize such enormous profits:—A house on the Boulevard Haussman, 40,000 francs per annum; another house, on the same boulevard, 76,000 francs; a house in the Rue de la Chaussee d'Antin, 74,000 francs; another in the same street, 95,000 francs; a house in the Rue de Rivoli, 80,000 francs; and one in the Place de la Madeleine, 90,000 francs. These are not cited as out-of-the-way rents, but are taken as they appear in the "Petites Affiches."

Springy Developments
OF
Climate and Clothing.

The chilly weather's over,
The frost, and cold, and snow;
Now springs the blooming clover,
The sprightly daisies grow.
The frogs in marshy meadow,
The birds from tree-top, say,
"Your winter clothing shed, oh!
This is the month of May."

And now the fruit trees blossom,
The fields look fresh and gay;
Our heavy clothes—we toss 'em
Aside, this pleasant day.
The sun shines bright, and brighter
Than e'er it shone at all,
We need light clothes and lighter;
We buy at GREAT BROWN HALL.

WHY SWELTER under the weight of your heavy clothes, gentlemen, when your light Spring Clothes are ready for you?

NO DANGER of catching cold now, if you make a change.

WE HAVE everything adapted to your wants for the present season.

OUR STYLES are absolutely unsurpassable.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH'S NEW BOOK
Will be Published Saturday Next.

THE CHANGED BRIDES.
BY
Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth

Is in press and will be published on Saturday, May 15, by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philada. It will command a very large sale, as it is fully equal to "Fair Play" and "How He Won Her," which have proved to be two of the best novels ever published, and which are having unprecedented sales, for Mrs. Southworth is, beyond all doubt, the first female novelist of the day. "The Changed Brides" will be issued in a large duodecimo volume of over five hundred pages, in uniform style with "Fair Play" and "How He Won Her," and sold by all Booksellers at the low price of $1·75 in cloth, or $1·50 in paper cover; or copies will be sent at once, by mail, to any place, post-paid, by the publishers, on receipt of the price of the work in a letter to them.

THE U. S. MARSHALSHIP.

General Edgar M. Gregory, the New Appointee—A Sketch of His Life and Public Services.

A despatch from Washington announces that the President has appointed General Edgar M. Gregory to the position of U. S. Marshal for the Eastern District of this State, vice General John Ely, deceased. On the 1st of January, 1804, Edgar M. Gregory was born at Sand Lake, Rensselaer county, New York. At the age of eighteen, he removed to Deposit, Delaware county, in the same State, and engaged in the lumber business, a vocation he followed for many years. He was ever of a devout turn of mind, at the age of thirty being an elder in the Presbyterian Church. In 1840 he wound up his business at Deposit, relinquished his position as commander of a regiment of State militia, and moved to Cincinnati, Ohio. There he pursued the calling of a banker, in addition to his older one of lumber merchant, still taking a deep interest in all matters pertaining to the Church, the Sunday School, and beneficent enterprises. He soon became the President of the Young Men's Bible Society of Cincinnati, which post he retained for sixteen years. He was one of the early foes of the institution of slavery. He termed it the curse of the land, and predicted that if it was permitted to live war would be its result. In 1860 he came to this city, and at the breaking out of the Rebellion took an active part in promoting enlistments, devoting most of his time and energies to aiding the cause of freedom and Union. At first he identified himself with the Home Guard organization of this city, and became Captain of Company A, Junior Home Guards, of the Thirteenth ward. Shortly after the organization of this body, it was proposed to raise a regiment for field service out of our Home Guard. The idea at once became popular, Captain Gregory being among the first to respond. Its organization was started, Captain Gregory was chosen Colonel, and obtained authority direct from the Secretary of War to proceed at once in its formation. It was the 91st Pennsylvania Volunteers. On the 21st of January, 1862, the regiment, numbering nearly 1000 men, left the city for the seat of war. On reaching Washington, however, it was there detained to act as provost guard of that city, relieving the 4th Regular United States Infantry. In a brief time Colonel Gregory was ordered to Alexandria, Va., to act as military governor, which position he filled with dignity, firmness, and success. During the time of his office there he never relinquished the command and management of his regiment and its affairs. When relieved from duty as military governor, his conduct in the field was equally admirable, always ready in any emergency to lead his men, and share their dangers. His gallantry at the battle of Fredericksburg filled his men with so much confidence and esteem, that they presented him with a fine horse and a magnificent sword, as a token of their appreciation of his merits. His honorable and gallant deeds having been brought before the President by prominent army officers, the well-earned rank of brigadier-general was conferred on him as a reward. He has twice been wounded in battle. He brings to his new position of United States Marshal just such experience as fits him to perform its duties with success.

CHICKERING & SONS—THE ONE PRICE SYSTEM.—We recognize in the recent action of Chickering & Sons a movement in the right direction. By close calculation they have made out a price list in which their pianos are marked at the exact price for which they can be sold, and from that price no deduction will be made.

Hitherto almost every purchaser expected even the most celebrated dealers to "knock down" from ten to twenty per cent. on the catalogue prices, and, having succeeded, they left, delighted with the bargain they had made; while the fact is that they merely got off what the dealer put on to enable him to flatter the buyer with a large discount. It was a game of brag, played every day in a thousand stores in this city—but one in which neither party really gained or lost. Still, the system was demoralizing both to the buyer and seller, for they unnecessarily appeared in the unenviable characters of the sharp and the sharper.

Chickering & Sons, with their reputation and wealth, won by forty-seven years of honorable and successful business life, can afford to take this stand, without the risk of being accused of selling "cheap" pianos. The superiority of their instruments is vouched for by the testimony of all the great pianists, by a hundred first-class medals, and by Orders of Distinction from foreign courts, and by the more important evidence offered by the thirty-four thousand Chickering pianos now in use in this country. The instruments will be made as perfect as ever. The change will only be in the price, and that change is entirely in the benefit of the purchasing public.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

SAFE MUSIC.

The pleasant little woodland warblers sing
On every tree the sweet return of spring;
Away from haunts of men they feel secure,
And waste their music where the air is pure.
To be secure where human bipeds roam,
We use a kind of iron labelled "Chrome,"
Prepared in globules of a monstrous size,
Within whose sides a spacious cavern lies;
An opening small admits your precious store,
Locked fast by one inexorable door;
Thus we have one of Marvin's Safes, designed
To baffle thieves and benefit mankind;
A safe you might from high Olympus throw,
And neither bend nor break it by the blow:
In other forms that furious flames resist—
All styles and sizes are on Marvin's list.

A BOLD ROBBERY.—Dr. G. Humphrey, of Beverly, aged eighty-seven years, while at the Colton Dental Association, No. 737 Walnut street, breathed the laughing gas and had three teeth extracted. On awakening, he exclaimed, "You rascals, you have robbed me!" "Robbed you of what?" the operator asked. "Of my teeth," said he.

Twelve thousand nine hundred persons have been robbed of their teeth, at the same place, within the past year, among whom one of the proprietors of this paper may be numbered as one of the victims. The gas operates so pleasantly that it is impossible to feel the slightest pain from the operation.—Sunday Mercury.

TROUBLESOME COUGHS AND COLDS, SORE THROAT, and HOARSENESS are speedily cured by Dr. D. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. It gives immediate relief in all Affections of the Lungs by producing a free expectoration of the phlegm which obstructs them, thus quieting the Cough, relieving the inflammation, and giving diseased organs a chance to heal. Sold by all Druggists.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.'s Pianos, No. 927 Chesnut street, are unequalled in durability, brilliancy, tone, and power. Distinguished pianists say they are the best. We never listened to any Piano so enchanting.

JEWELRY.—Mr. William W. Cassidy, No. 12 S. Second street, has the largest and most attractive assortment of fine Jewelry and Silverware in the city. Purchasers can rely upon obtaining a real, pure article furnished at a price which cannot be equalled. He also has a large stock of American Western Watches in all varieties and at all prices. A visit to his store is sure to result in pleasure and profit.

FROM MR. A. WINCH we have received the latest numbers of the London Punch, Fun, and Reynolds' Miscellany, all of which, with all the other foreign and domestic periodicals, may be obtained at his establishment, No. 606 Chesnut street.

Our customers ask us how it is we can sell so much cheaper than Eighth street. That is very easily answered. One square from Eighth street makes a difference of $500 a year in rent. We purpose to give all who favor us with a call the advantage of the extra rent we would have to pay if on Eighth street, rather than pay it to the landlords. We are working for our customers. All we ask is one call. We will convince you the above is true.
Our motto, never to be undersold.
Small profits, quick sales, and turn the nimble sixpence often. One price. All goods marked in plain figures.

THE GREAT ZINGARI BITTERS!

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH
OF
THE DISCOVERER OF THE ZINGARI.

DR. ALI SALMON CHEOPSUS, the discoverer of the powerful herb known as the ZINGARI, or, as it is called by the Egyptians, Zingari, was an Egyptian, born in the valley of the Biblical historic Nile, in that part of Egypt known in ancient history as Bahara, and in modern times as Lower Egypt. Cheopsus, being of humble parentage, was in early youth placed in the service of a shepherd, who, in his nomadic course of life with his flocks, wandered far into the interior or upper regions of the Blue Nile, through the district of Said and Vostari. During the long and weary days of herding in the fertile valleys and on the borders of the lakes, although a mere boy, Cheopsus exhibited a natural or intuitive love and knowledge of flowers, herbs, roots, barks, and vegetables generally. On his return from the upper country with his flocks he would invariably bring with him fruits, seeds, herbs, roots, etc., and transplant and sow them on the land of his employer or in the limited domain of his parents, until, at the age of sixteen years, he had stocked a considerable tract of land near the town of Menant, in Bahara, with the choicest vegetables and medicinal plants, among which were millet, sweet rush, carthamus, cardamon, aloe, jalap, coloquintida, sycamores, cassia, acacias, etc.

After a faithful service of ten years as a shepherd he devoted himself exclusively to the selection and propagation of strange and rare plants and flowers, containing medical qualities heretofore unknown to the Rofas or Doctors of Egypt. While thus employed in his simple and useful pursuits, he daily ministered to the poor people who suffered from the various maladies incident to the climate, and had, by his vegetable preparations and compounds, gained a proud local reputation as a skilful physician. By the laws of Egypt—despotic and rigid as they were—Cheopsus subjected himself to punishment for infringing upon the exclusive rights of the Postophori, a class of priests who alone had the privilege of officiating as doctors. Upon complaint being lodged against him, Cheopsus was transported as a prisoner to Cairo. After much delay and suffering he was brought forth for trial. The people of his neighborhood were there in great numbers, and demanded a hearing before Mohamed Ali, the Viceroy of Egypt. Mohamed, a wise and enlightened prince, granted the prayer of the people, and commanded Cheopsus to be brought before him, to hear and decide the charge preferred against the prisoner. Mohamed, famous in both hemispheres for his encouragement of the arts and sciences, and ever anxious to promote the welfare of the people, was taken by surprise at the wonderful knowledge displayed by the unlettered Doctor. He not only immediately set Cheopsus at liberty, but placed him under the care of the celebrated Raschid, the principal Professor of Medicine of the school Mizra, at Cairo. Here, after several years of attention and laborious study, with his quick, active mind, and almost inherent power of comparison, he had mastered all the mysteries and secrets of the healing art known to the Rofas of the College. His fame spread, as on the wings of the wind, by reason of his many wonderful cures, not only in Egypt, but throughout Turkey, Greece, Arabia, and Persia. In the acme of his fame and great reputation, he was specially deputed by his benefactor and friend, the Viceroy Mohamed Ali, to undertake a journey to the unexplored regions of Upper Egypt, with the view of discovering some plant possessing the medicinal qualities to cure the dangerous maladies prevailing among the people annually after the vernal equinox. Besides the plague, the people of all classes were tormented with fever and ague, bilious fevers, bronchitis, nervous debility, diarrhœa, typhus fever, and other diseases peculiar to the climate of the Nile country. In this Cheopsus, after months of search, trials, and experiment, was most successful, and brought with him the Zingarini herb—a vegetable production perhaps unequalled for medicinal virtues upon the face of the globe. After procuring large quantities of this truly precious weed, and its rapid growth by transplantation in the cultivated valleys of the lower Nile, the preparation of the famous tonic, the ZINGARI BITTERS, was commenced and given to the public. Its effect was miraculous, and so much did the sanitary condition of the people of Cairo improve, that Cheopsus was honored and esteemed by natives and foreigners as a public benefactor. Honors and presents were showered upon him. The Viceroy, as a token of his regard for Cheopsus, and as an acknowledgment of great services, decorated him with the imperial orders of Ismael and Saladin. The Sultan of Turkey, as well as the Imaum of Muscat, invited Cheopsus, who was now called the Rofa a Mizraim (the Doctor of Egypt), to their courts, and received him with the most distinguished consideration.

On one of his travels from Alexandria to the Island of Corfu, a fellow-passenger, a merchant from the city of Berlin, a relative of the proprietor of the ZINGARI BITTERS, made the doctor's acquaintance, and having shown him many favors during the tempestuous and dangerous voyage, Cheopsus, to be remembered by one from a distant land, gave him a receipt for the preparing of this great vegetable panacea. From Germany the present proprietor obtained this valuable recipe—comparatively but a few years ago; but the efficacy and healing qualities of this extraordinary preparation has already made it as famous and popular in America (inclusive of portions of the southern divisions of this continent) as in the ancient kingdom of the Pharoahs. It is sold in almost every city, town, and village, and wherever it has been tried it has produced marvellous results. The proprietor has in his possession thousands of certificates from individuals who have been benefited by the Bitters.

The great ZINGARI BITTERS was but recently offered to the American public. Its high qualities were almost immediately recognized, and the demand for it increased so rapidly that the manufacturer with great difficulty kept the supply in advance of the consumption. The proprietors, disclaiming any attempt to establish a new system of medication, are warranted, on the light of past experience, to declare, without fear of successful contradiction, that they have produced a remedy against infectious, organic, malarious, epidemic, scrofulous, or inflammatory diseases, unsurpassed. As a preventive against these it has been thoroughly tested, and is always successful. It is the great Hygienic compound, and searches out diseased action in every part of the system, sending increased vitality into every channel. It has been widely and successfully tested in a great variety of cases of Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Colic, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption in its first stage, Flatulency, Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Dysentery, Acute and Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera, Typhoid and Typhus Fever, Yellow Fever, Scrofula, Diseases of the Kidneys, Habitual Costiveness, etc., etc.

As a remedy in cases of Cholera it never fails, if used in time, to prevent, and invariably cures this disease if used as directed. As a remedy against Cholera Morbus and Diarrhœa in all its forms, acute and chronic, it surpasses all other compounds. Used in malarious climates and in the hot weather of the summer, it is a most valuable preventive. As a Tonic it is unequalled.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

The use of the Zingari Bitters will give to you that soft, semi-transparent complexion which nature fully intended that you should have—for it is nature's own powder and paint combined. By purifying the blood, stimulating the pigmentary cells of the dermis or true skin, and imparting health and life throughout the entire system, it gives that smooth clearness and beauty to the complexion so much to be desired, removing all roughness, blotches, freckles, pimples, and that yellow, sickly look so common in our days; and what is even better than this, it cures every species of irregularities and disease.

THE MOST REMARKABLE CURE KNOWN TO MEDICAL SCIENCE.

This may certify that about four years ago I was attacked with what seemed a very obscure affliction. I felt not really sick, but continually suffered of a general uneasiness and peculiar pains in my legs. After suffering in this way for several months, sores commenced to break out, and soon not less than fourteen unhealthy ulcers were established, and their scrofulous character fully shown. Every one said (including several physicians) that this was the worst case of Scrofula they ever saw, and my chances for recovery were regarded as very poor. I am sure nothing I used did me any good. I spent all the money I could raise with doctors and for patent medicines, but was not in the least benefited. I was, about a year ago, induced to use the ZINGARI BITTERS, and was completely cured by less than four bottles. Any one who may be incredulous can see me at the Iron City Hotel, corner of Walnut and Railroad streets, Harrisburg, and see the scars for themselves. I do not believe that a more wonderful cure of this monstrous disease was ever effected by any medicine, and I confidently believe that almost every case of this complaint will yield to this extraordinary preparation. My general health is now excellent, and my app

NUMBER CCXXII.

A VISIT TO THE PENNSYLVANIA ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS.

The exhibition this year was opened without much difficulty by the Janitor of the building. The Hanging Committee, being mostly gentlemen opposed to capital punishment, have let the artists have their own way within the walls, so that it might be said that the worst executed subject is the best hung.

The first thing that catches your eye, as you enter (not counting the lady who takes your ticket) is by George B. Wood, Jr. The tone of this picture is fully up to the scratch, and the handling of the subject by the principal figure is very masterly. The comb is drawn with the usual accuracy of this artist. His attention to the small accessories has ever been his great virtue. The only defect we notice is the form of the rockers of the chairs; otherwise we consider it a crack picture.

Next on the catalogue is a little gem, by Hamilton, entitled Moonlight, Atlantic City.

This picture shows great originality in treatment, and contrasts finely with other pictures by the same artist in the exhibition. The moon in this waterscape is just rising, and the size of it in the original painting is about four inches across the disc. The next shows another view of a similar subject. It is called Moon Rising off the Coast.

In this picture there is a pleasing variety. The moon, it will be observed, is half-way up, and measures six inches of visible surface. In other points the subject is handled in Mr. H.'s usual style. The third is called Off Soundings, Night.

This again shows another strong point of this artist. The orb of night is now about to burst on the otherwise solemnness of the scene in her full vermilion and orange glory. The sullen swell that marks the ocean under the stillness of the scene is now unobservable, as are many other points of beauty in the picture. Altogether it is such a painting as we might expect to see from the subject. The third and last of this series is an attempt at an illustration of the popular song entitled and is certainly in the artist's best style, and worthy the title. The moon, which had been subdued in the last three pictures, is now seen in all her refulgence about eight inches in diameter, which, considering the size of the painting, is very liberal.

On the Beach at Long Branch,

The next noticeable picture is a fine historical subject, called in the catalogue by Luther Terry. It is Terry-fying to many, the contemplation of the scene. The motion in the principal figures, the fine bits of color on the "three balls," as they are called, the eager crowd at Jacobs', who has just opened a new shop on the corner, are all subjects of much interest.

Spirit Land,

by Thomas Moran, is a very well-conceived subject and well "handled." This artist has this year given himself wholly up to the ghost line. He seems to have a good flow of spirits, judging from the samples that come from his studio. His landscape talent has come finely into play in painting the "grove" in the above. The companion to it, by the same artist, entitled is another scene true to life. The shirt on the "Fairy" b'hoy on the left is a beautiful red, and quite natural. We were sorry to see at the last meeting of Common Council a motion by some one to put the "Fairy" out of service, and we hope it will not prevail. The company has recently bought two new horses and six hundred feet of hose, and was never in a more effective condition than at present. Meetings for admission to membership at Harry Wellbank's, first Saturday night in every month.

Next noticeable is the fine picture by C. Schussele, entitled Queen Esther Denouncing Haman to Ahasuerus.

It would be almost impossible to do a picture like the above justice in a wood cut, but we must say that our engraver has done very well by it. The principal figures, it will be noticed, are all portraits of artist's family—a very pretty conceit, first introduced into this country from Europe. The Queen is standing on the right, Haman is standing on the wrong. The artist has made the other figures stand around right and left in his usual style. The frame is 8-inch moulding, O. G. pattern.

Meadow near Burlington, N. J.,

by Thomas B. Craig. This little piece has some fine touches of nature. The bullfrogs and bullrushes are painted in beautiful harmony. The green used is evidently the best "Paris green." The mosquito, on the right, is very well drawn, as is the devil's darning-needle on the opposite side of the picture. Altogether a very pretty piece of composition, giving great promise of the future.

Portrait of a Lady,

by J. R. Lambdin. This artist's female groups have always been favorites with the art-loving public, and in the above he has managed to group one in a very effective manner. The pure Grecian features of this female will strike any one as being very natural and well drawn.

The Exiled Greek,

by De Boucher, is a very fine head, and full of expression. Though his eye has lost its fire, his pipe has not, and the ashes of his forefathers are not forgotten amid the ashes of his dudheen. The whole subject is so foreign to our tastes that we shall not attempt a criticism upon it.

Sculpture—Pair o'dice Lost, done in Ivory. Very effective and well arranged. The artist must have thrown himself in the grouping of the principal objects. The whole event is now lost in tradition. How were they lost? Were they loaded? Who last owned them? and various other questions might suggest themselves to the thoughtful mind, but all to no purpose. That they were lost is an established fact. About the circumstances of the loss, Mr. Milton, counsellor to Cromwell, has written a very able argument.

"What's that?" asked Mrs. Partington, looking up at the column of the Place Vendome during her late visit to Paris.

"The pillar of Napoleon," she was answered.

"Well, I never did!" she exclaimed. "And that's his pillow—he was a great man to use that! But it's more like a bolster. And it's made of iron, I do believe. Ah! Isaac, see what it is to be great. How hard his head must have rested on his ironical pillow!"

A lock of hair from a young woman's head is often a key to a young man's heart.

If you want to be suited, go to the tailor; if you desire to be non-suited, go to law.

ALEXANDER G. CAT

OUR RELIGIOUS COLUMN.

"Rock of Ages, Cleft for Me."

In the pleasant county of Devon, and in one of its sequestered passes, with a few cottages sprinkled over it, mused and sang Augustus Toplady. When a lad of sixteen, and on a visit to Ireland, he had strolled into a barn where an illiterate layman was preaching—but preaching reconciliation to God through the death of His Son. The homely sermon took effect, and from that moment the Gospel wielded all the powers of his brilliant and active mind. Toplady became very learned, and at thirty-eight he died, more widely read in Fathers and Reformers than most reformers can boast when their heads are hoary. His chief works are controversial, and in some respects bear the impress of his over-ardent spirit. In the pulpit's milder agency nothing flowed but balm. In his tones there was a commanding solemnity, and in his words there was such simplicity, that to hear was to understand. Both at Broad Hembury, and afterwards in London, the happiest results attended his ministry. Many sinners were converted, and the doctrines which God blessed to the accomplishment of these results may be learned from the hymns which Toplady has bequeathed to the Church—"Rock of Ages, cleft for me;" "A debtor to mercy alone;" "When langour and disease invade;" and "Deathless principles arise"—hymns in which it would seem as if the finished work were embalmed and the living hope exulting in every line. During his last illness, Augustus Toplady seemed to lie in the very vestibule of glory. To a friend's inquiry, he answered, with sparkling eyes, "Oh, my dear sir, I cannot tell the comforts I feel in my soul—they are past expression. The consolations of God are so abundant that He leaves me nothing to pray for. My prayers are all converted into praise. I enjoy heaven already in my soul." And within an hour of dying, he called his friends, and asked if they could give him up; and when they said they could, tears of joy ran down his cheeks as he added, "O, what a blessing that you are willing to give me over into the hands of my dear Redeemer, and part with me; for no mortal can live after the glories which God has manifested to my soul!" And thus died the writer of the beautiful hymn, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me."—Dewdrop.

The End of Four Great Men.

The four conquerors who occupy the most conspicuous places in the history of the world are Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar, and Bonaparte.

Alexander, after having climbed the dizzy heights of his ambition, with his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of millions, looked down upon a conquered world, and wept that there was not any other world for him to conquer, set a city on fire, and died in a scene of debauch.

Hannibal, after having, to the astonishment and consternation of Rome, passed the Alps, and having put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, and stripped "three bushels of gold rings from the fingers of her slaughtered knights," and made her foundations quake, fled from his country, being hated by those who once exultingly united his name to that of their god, and called him Hani-Baal; and died at last by poison administered with his own hand, unlamented and unwept, in a foreign land.

Cæsar, after having conquered eight hundred cities, and dying his garments in the blood of one million of his foes, after having pursued to death the only rival he had on earth, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends, and in that very place the attainment of which had been his greatest ambition.

Bonaparte, whose mandates kings and popes obeyed, after having filled the earth with the terror of his name—after having deluged Europe with tears and blood, and clothed the world in sackcloth—closed his days in lonely banishment, almost literally exiled from the world, yet where he could sometimes see his country's banner waving over the deep, but which did not and could not bring him aid.

Thus these four great men, who seemed to stand the representatives of all those whom the world calls great—these four men, who each in turn made the earth tremble to its very centre, by their simple tread, severally died—one by intoxication, or, as was supposed, by poison mingled with his wine—one a suicide—one murdered by his friends—and one a lonely exile! How wretched is the end of all such earthly greatness!

LOCAL CHURCH NEWS.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL.

—The annual conference commences in St. Andrew's Church next Tuesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock.

—There are 1200 children in the schools and Bible classes of St. Andrew's Church, including the colored schools, which have 10 teachers and 220 scholars.

—Rev. Thomas F. Davis, rector of the Church of the Resurrection, acknowledges the receipt of several recent handsome subscriptions towards the rebuilding of his church.

—The receipts for the Board of Missions for the year ending on the 1st inst. amounted to $8821·04, of which $7451·70 were for general purposes. The Philadelphia churches contributed $6169·31.

—Bishop Lee, of Delaware, recently held an ordination in the Church of the Nativity, and admitted Mr. O. W. Sandreth to the Deaconate, who will act as assistant to the Rev. Mr. Matlack, Rector of the Nativity.

—Bishop Stevens preached an interesting sermon from the words of the Philippian jailor, "What must I do to be saved?" on the occasion of the recent opening of the Southeastern Convocation of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, in St. Paul's Church, at Chester.

—From the commencement of the "Midnight Mission," on February 20 last, an aggregate of 450 persons have been brought under the influence of the Gospel, and provided for by its managers, composed of eminent lay and clerical members of this denomination.

—Since the resignation of Rev. Mr. Wright from St. Andrew's Chapel, alias the Church of the Reconciliation, Rev. George Bringhurst has been invited to take charge of the mission, and has entered on its duties, and preached therein last Sunday morning and evening.

—The death of Rev. George S. Durborrow, pastor of the Church of the Redemption, is much regretted by all who knew him. The resolutions adopted at the meeting of the clergy in relation to his decease, and presided at by Bishop Stevens, shows how highly he was esteemed by his reverend brethren. The committee who prepared said resolutions consisted of Rev. Samuel E. Smith, Rev. Dr. Claxton, and Rev. Dr. Buchanan.

—Rev. R. F. Clare and Messrs. William H. Rhawn, Joseph A. Hull, Edward Wrigley, and John K. Wright—a committee of the vestry of the Church of St. Mathias—are out with a circular having reference to the erection of a new church on their lot at Nineteenth and Wallace streets. They contemplate putting up a structure to cost $75,000, and will commence as soon as $50,000 is subscribed and $30,000 paid in.

CATHOLIC.

—Nearly three hundred children received "First Communion" in St. Peter's Church last Sunday morning.

—The lecture of Right Rev. Bishop Lynch, of Charleston, in St. Michael's Church, on Thursday night, in aid of the poor, was an intellectual treat of the highest order, and was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it.

—The devotion of the Forty Hours will commence to-morrow morning in St. Bridget's Church, Falls of Schuylkill, Rev. Thomas Fox, pastor. The "Month's Mind," or anniversary requiem for the repose of the soul of the sister of the pastor, took place on last Tuesday morning.

—The advantage from the electro-magnetic action as applied to the organ of St. Augustine's Church, is simply a convenience for the organist, making but little if any pressure necessary for the keys, as heretofore, when playing on the full organ, or a great number of stops. The invention is an ingenious one, and will work well.

—The concert in aid of St. Joseph's Church, Seventeenth and Stiles streets, at Concert Hall, on the 20th inst., will be a great success, if we may judge from the rapidity with which tickets are being disposed of therefor. Mrs. Mozart and Mr. Simpson, of New York; Miss Caroline McCaffrey and Mr. T. E. Harkins, of this city, will all take part in a fine programme.

—Mr. James Reilly, who completed his novitiate at the Augustinian College, at Villa Nova on Tuesday last, took the vows of "chastity, poverty, and obedience," as prescribed by the rules of the order. Rev. Francis N. Sheeran, O. S. A., officiated, and afterwards celebrated Solemn High Mass. The services were unusually interesting, and were witnessed by a large congregation, including the entire class of the College. The service was sung by a special choir from Philadelphia, including the Misses P. A. and E. A. Donnelly, W. D. Kavanagh, Thomas E. Harkins, and other eminent singers, and the occasion was one both of edification and general pleasure to all participating.

—The Villa Nova College is under the competent care of the Fathers of the Order of St. Augustine, and has been in existence since 1848. It is one of the most desirable and probably healthy and convenient collegiate institutions of the Catholic denomination in the United States, having 250 acres of ground and every desirable convenience of choice location, light, air, and general characteristics. It is under the supervision and care of Rev. Ambrose A. Mullen, O. S. A., President, under whose jurisdiction everything is flourishing and prospering. There is at present a large class in the institution, and they are making rapid and desirable progress.

UNIVERSALIST.

—On Tuesday evening three Universalist Sunday schools will have a union gathering at Lombard Street Church.

—To-morrow night Rev. Mr. Leonard will preach, in Lombard Street Church, on the subject of the "Universalist Opinion of Christ." At Locust Street Church Dr. Brooks will preach, at 8 P. M., on the subject of "Christ and Barrabas."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL.

—Rev. W. J. Paxson has been chosen President of the Preachers' Meeting, vice John Walker Jackson.

—The subject of "Lay Representation" in this denomination will be voted on in all of the churches next month.

—The closing Union prayer meeting of the season will be held in the M. E. Church, Broad and Arch streets, on Monday next, at 4 o'clock.

—Rev. A. Manship has been appointed by Dr. Castle, Presiding Elder, pastor of the church at Chesnut Hill, in place of Rev. W. H. Elliott, resigned.

—Revs. Messrs. C. H. Sayne and J. H. Alday, of this city, who are going to Europe, will be accompanied by Rev. William V. Kelley, pastor of the Centenary Church, Camden, N. J.

—Rev. M. A. Rowland, formerly a Minister of the M. E. Church, has joined the German Reformed denomination, and been ordained by the Classis of Philadelphia pastor of the church in Vincent, Pennsylvania.

—The Minutes of the Philadelphia Conference show that the total number of members of the city churches is 17,160; probationers, 2525; baptisms during the year, 2327; value of church property, $1,350,500; and contributions during the year, $196,002.

—The fifty-third Annual Conference of the African M. E. Church held its session on Thursday last in Bethel Church, Sixth street, near Lombard, Rev. J. D. Campbell presiding. After the appointment of the regular standing committees, the conference, at the suggestion of the Bishop, proceeded to attend to financial matters, the ministers' support, etc., and continued in session until 1 o'clock P. M., at which time they adjourned, with the benediction by Rev. Stephen Smith, to meet at 4 o'clock to hear the annual sermon. At the afternoon session the conference reassembled at 4 o'clock, when the annual sermon was preached by Rev. James M. Williams.

BAPTIST.

—Baptisms have been lately held as follows in the churches named:—Tabernacle, 4; Passyunk, 4; Nicetown and Third Germantown, 7.

—Since the end of October 103 members have been added to the Second Church, Rev. William Cathcart, pastor, 72 by baptism and 31 by letter.

—The Church Extension Commission raised $6000 recently, out of $14,000 needed to buy two lots on which the First and Fifth Churches will build for two new societies to be organized.

PRESBYTERIAN.

—The Presbyterian Church at Chesnut Hill has been handsomely enlarged and improved.

—Rev. Henry F. Lee, of this city, has received a unanimous call to become pastor of the church at Thompsonville, Conn.

—The name of Rev. William H. Thorne has been stricken from the roll of the Third Presbytery of Philadelphia (New School).

—The Board of Education added 334 students during the year ending April 15. Of this number 108 were theological, 119 collegiate, and 107 academical. This is an increase of 40 over last year.

SUMMARY OF GENERAL CHURCH NEWS.

BAPTIST.

—The Rev. A. D. Gillette, D. D., has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist Church in Washington City, on account of physical inability to discharge the duties of the office.

—The Baptists of Scotland have taken steps for the organization of an Association of the churches. A meeting of church delegates has been called for the present month at Edinburgh to consummate the project.

—The Baptists are considering the matter of establishing a new children's mission in New York city, which shall be under the charge of Rev. W. C. Van Meter, lately of the Howard Mission.

—The debt of the New York Baptist Convention is now paid. Many thanks are due the churches and individuals who have helped to remove this incumbrance, and cancel the obligations to our faithful and needy missionaries.

—Since the end of October one hundred and three persons have been added to the membership of the Second Church in this city, the Rev. William Cathcart, pastor, seventy-two by baptism and thirty-one by letter. During this spiritual harvest only one extra meeting was held.

—The Missionary Union closes its year in debt, but the debt is not so great as many feared it would be. The Treasurer reports the donations for March at $75,000; legacies, $8000; total receipts for the year, $196,000. There was an indebtedness at the beginning of the year of $30,000. The expenditures for the year just closed amount to $180,000. The receipts will therefore exceed the expenses of the year by about $16,000, and so reduce the present indebtedness to $14,000.

—The statistics of the German Baptists in the United States are as follows:—Churches, 85; ordained ministers, 83; colporteurs, 10; baptisms during last year, 607; total membership, 4518; contributions for foreign missions, $397·10; for home missions, $1388·06; for tracts and publications, $214·90; for Rochester Theological Seminary, $816·57; total contributions for all objects, $31,226·93; subscribers to weekly paper, 2900; Sunday Schools, 81; teachers, 719; scholars, 5170; contributions, $1601·15.

METHODIST.

—Grace Church, on Broadway, New York, received $100,000 this year for pew rents.

—The African M. E. Church has 28 members in the South Carolina House of Representatives, and 13 in the Florida House, and 5 in the Senate.

—The Rev. Dr. Rives is to succeed the Rev. Dr. Linn in the pastorate of Broadway Church, Louisville. Dr. Linn will take charge of Central Church, Baltimore.

—W. W. Wakeman, a layman in the Presbyterian Church, recently deceased, bequeathed to the Methodist Episcopal church at Southport, Connecticut, $1000.

—The edifice lately occupied by the New England Church, New York (Rev. Lyman Abbott's), has been purchased by the Methodists. Drs. McClintock and Foster, of Drew Theological Seminary, are temporarily supplying.

—Robert's chapel, Indianapolis, Indiana, has been blessed with a glorious revival of religion during the past three months, resulting thus far in nearly three hundred conversions, of whom nearly all have connected themselves with the church. The work still continues.

—The Vermont Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church met at Waterbury, April 15, and adjourned on the evening of the 19th. Six young men were ordained to the work of the ministry, and the various reports exhibited a good degree of prosperity during the year.

—All members of the M. E. Church, male and female, above twenty-one years of age, are eligible to vote next June on lay delegation. If a majority vote for it, supported by three-fourths of the membership of the annual conferences, it can be consummated by a vote of two-thirds in the General Conference of 1872.

—The edifice known as the "New England Church," on Sixty-first street, west of Sixth avenue, New York, has been purchased by a committee of gentlemen connected with the Methodist Episcopal Church. This is the first fruit of the movement, set on foot some months ago, to devote half a million of dollars to Methodist church extension in the city of New York.

—We clip the following from the Protestant Churchman:—"Among some of the oddities of the statistics of the Methodist Church in this country are these:—The cheapest parsonage is valued at 50 cents; Newark, N. J., has one worth $25,000. In the Alabama Conference, with 11,564 members, there is not one parsonage, and the 106 meeting-houses are estimated at $120 apiece! The average amount given by each member, in the whole country, to benevolent causes is 72½ cents a year. In the Alabama Conference, but 50 cents was contributed to the cause of missions last year."

—Elder Heman Bangs, a veteran of Connecticut and New York Methodism, has lately been placed on the superannuated list at his own request. He has built some forty or fifty churches in Connecticut, and twenty parsonages, though he never lived in one. He claims to have been the first Methodist in this country who preached on temperance; and says ten thousand souls have been converted under his ministry. He has never complained but once about his salary, and then he objected to an increase on the ground that the example might have a bad influence upon his brethren. The old veteran was presented with $3000 on retiring.

PRESBYTERIAN.

—The Rev. H. F. Hickok, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Savoy Hill, New York, has accepted the care of the Second Presbyterian Church, Orange, New Jersey.

—Sixty-three new members have been added to the Presbyterian Church in Skaneateles, New York, including some of the most substantial men of the place.

—The Rev. Dr. A. R. Thompson has declined the call of the Second Reformed Church of this city, his church in New York not being willing to part with him.

—The Rev. J. G. W. Cowles, of East Saginaw, Michigan, has welcomed some forty new members to his church since the religious interest commenced there.

—About seventy persons were received to membership (all but eight on profession of their faith) by the church at Wakeman, Ohio, on the first Sabbath of April. The ordinance of baptism was administered to twenty-nine adults.

—The Rev. Dr. Davidson, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian churches in New Brunswick, New Jersey, and Huntingdon, Long Island, sailed for Europe last week, to remain for a number of months. The Rev. Dr. Cattell and family sailed on Thursday of the present week. The Rev. Dr. Alexander Reed, the Rev. Dr. R. W. Henry, and the Rev. S. A. Mutchmore, of this city, sail to-day for a few months' travel in Europe. It is announced that the Rev. Dr. Hall and Dr. Murray, of New York city, will also cross the ocean this summer.

—A statistical and financial report of the Scotch Presbyterian Church in Elmira, Illinois, for the year ending April 1, 1869, has just been published. In connection with this congregation there are 40 families, 47 communicants—6 were added during the past year; there are 3 elders; about thirty children attending Sabbath School, and the same number in pastor's Bible class. The church can seat 250, and there is about 150 of an average attendance on Sabbath. They have a parsonage and glebe, which is free from debt. They paid their pastor $800 for salary, and expended $500 in repairing and remodelling the manse. They contributed in all for congregational, synodical, and benevolent purposes, $1505. Their church property is valued at $4000.

CATHOLIC.

—A Roman Catholic priest was received, February 17, into the Lutheran church near Stillwater, Minnesota.

—It seems very hard for Mary Ann Smith to secure a release in this Catholic city. It will be remembered that she was a domestic in a Methodist family in New Jersey, and left Romanism and joined the Methodist Church. Thereupon her father had her confined in the House of the Good Shepherd, where she declares she is compelled to associate with prostitutes, and is not allowed to converse with her Protestant friends. One of the witnesses who swore to her bad character has since owned that he was hired to commit this perjury. Still Justice Sutherland refused last Saturday to interfere, and it seems as if she would be compelled to remain a prisoner for her faith till she is of age—New York Independent.

—The Pall Mall Gazette says that there is trouble about the Papal Council. It asserts that the special committees which were appointed to get the business for the Council ready, and which were to elaborate the two points for which the Council has been convoked—the personal infallibility of the Pope, and the condemnation of political liberalism in accordance with the Pope's declarations in the Syllabus—have fallen out amongst themselves, and cannot be brought to any agreement. But dissent on these two points ruins the whole project, which was broached in the conviction that the formal acceptance by a unanimous Church of these pet articles of Jesuit doctrine might be secured. The Jesuit advisers have, therefore, it is asserted, advised the Pope to postpone the Council indefinitely. But he had set his heart upon it, and "flew into one of his constitutional furies." Further efforts have been made to induce him to put it off, in fear that it will not affirm the principles of the Syllabus. Thus far the Pope is said to have been immovable; but he is a man of infirm purpose, and it is possible that the Council may be postponed as long as was the Council of Trent. The Catholic papers will not believe the Pall Mall Gazette, but say it is under Russian influence and opposed to the Œcumenical Council.

CONGREGATIONAL.

—The Bangor (Me.) Theological School has recently received $12,000 from its friends in that city.

—Single congregations among the Presbyterians and Congregationalists pay more for home missionary operations than the entire Lutheran Church of this country. So says a Lutheran paper.

—The Bangor and Fish Creek Congregational churches in La Crosse county, Wisconsin, have resolved to pay their own way hereafter. They have heretofore been sustained by the Home Missionary Society.

—There are in Oregon eight or nine Congregational churches, with a membership of over four hundred; seven houses of worship, costing over $30,000, all paid except $1200. Two of these churches are self-sppporting, and helpful to others. A flourishing college is maintained under the Presidency of Rev. S. H. Marsh, D. D. More than a dozen out-stations are more or less regularly supplied with preaching.

—The Annual Reunion of the American Congregational Union, under the auspices of that body, together with the anniversary exercises, will take place at the Brooklyn Academy of Music on Thursday evening, the 13th of May. The ante-rooms of the Academy will be open for a levee at 6½ o'clock, when the speakers and others, gentlemen and ladies, who wish to greet each other, will enjoy an hour of unceremonious social and Christian intercourse. Dodworth's excellent band will be in attendance to enliven the occasion. At 7½ o'clock the usual public services in the Academy will commence. A very rich meeting is anticipated. The Rev. Dr. Price, of Wales, whose eloquence is said to be extraordinary, and who has just arrived in the country, the Rev. S. H. Tyng, Jr., the Rev. Dr. Ridgeway, of St. Paul's Church, Methodist, of New York, and other distinguished speakers, will give a high character to the exercises.

—The annual report for the last year of Rev. J. P. Moore, of the City Missionary Society, under the auspices of the Congregational churches of San Francisco, says:—"We have in this city 74 churches or chapels, and 12 stations. The utmost seating capacity of these is 40,799. If now our population be estimated at 150,000, there is a deficiency of 109,201. New York, with a population six times as great as ours, has a deficiency of only 799 sittings more than our own. Plainly we need some method to bring this 109,000 to hear the truth of the Gospel. According to the school census of June, 1868, there were 23,619 children in this city between five and fifteen years of age, while the entire number under religious instruction (including those of every sect) is only 18,286, if we take all the names enrolled. The actual number will fall far short of this, since many of the children attend more than one Sabbath School. Still we are astonished to find that at the very largest allowance there are 5333 children in our city not gathered anywhere for religious instruction. If we reckon one-half of this number as Protestants, we have 2666 not provided for. Surely there is still chance for Sabbath School effort. The receipts of the society for the year have been $3243; expenses, $3213. Tracts distributed, 33,142; books, 5430; Bibles and Testaments, 444; magazines and papers, 17,787; persuaded to attend church, 60; conversions, 20; persons relieved, 887; employment obtained for 101; articles of clothing furnished, 2099, of which upwards of 500 were new garments from sewing societies connected with the several Congregational churches of the city."

LUTHERAN.

—Dr. T. Stork, of the Lutheran Observer, is urging conferences on the subject of union between the adherents of the General Council and the General Synod. The effort does not look very encouraging, as the parties seem mutually glad to be rid of each other. The adherents of the Council are old High Church Lutherans, while those of the Synod believe in revivals, in sympathy with other saints, and hesitate to express an unbounded faith in the confessions of the Church as in the Scriptures.

EPISCOPAL.

—By the exertions of a young girl the last eight years, the beautiful little church of St. Sacrament has been built in Bolton, on Lake George, at a cost of $5000.

—An exchange says:—"Of the fourteen Episcopal churches of Boston, six are free churches and three are open every day. We are curious to hear about the remaining five."

—Bishop Huntington's (of New York) new field of labor has a population of 685,000; 95 "church" parishes, of which but 31 are self-supporting, and 90 church edifices. It is a mission field, in the "church" sense.

—Ascension Church (Episcopal), in New York, is setting a good example to her sisters, by opening the doors, both of her vestibule and of her pews, to the public, every Sunday evening. No one need ask the sexton for a seat, all being for the time free.

—The Episcopalians in Kentucky have inaugurated a new system of church extension, employing two evangelists to build up churches in destitute places, and to do much of the work of a Methodist travelling preacher. A missionary of the Church Missionary Society has during the last year organized congregations in five towns in Missouri, averaging twenty communicants in each.

—The great central conference of the Irish Episcopal Church, which consists of 428 lay and clerical delegates, met in Dublin last month. All the bishops were present except the Bishop of Cashel, who is eighty-seven years of age. Resolutions were passed condemning the principle of Mr. Gladstone's Church bill, and protesting against the alienation of church property, and appointing a committee to assist in opposing the bill.

—Rev. John Anketell, an Episcopal clergyman of Western New York, supporting the plan of Bishop Coxe for a union between the Episcopalians and Methodists, urges that the latter should "accept a rectification of their episcopate at the hands of the Moravian bishops," so that the former could recognize the canonicity of their orders. So far as we see, the Methodists do not see it in that light, and do not seem to care whether or not a tactual succession from Peter can be proved for their bishops.—Independent.

—Grace Church, of Brooklyn, is one of the most enterprising "High" Episcopal churches of the city. During five years of Dr. Hoffman's ministry, 548 communicants were received, and $186,000 spent for support of the church and benevolent objects. Dr. Paddock has accepted the call of the church. We have mentioned the fact that he warned his flock in Detroit against the publications of the Evangelical Society. The Hartford Churchman, in its comment, compares, without intending any compliment, the Church "Evangelical" Societies with Red Republicanism and Unitarian Christianity. We had assumed that, though voluntarily, they were Evangelical in fact as well as in name. The Churchman, we think, had not previously pronounced against these societies, which have the endorsement of many of the best bishops.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

"THE PERFECTION OF MECHANISM."—Over the door of No. 730 Chesnut street is a sign bearing the above inscription. If it refers to the celebrated "Letter G" Sewing Machine, no wording could be more appropriate. But there is on exhibition in one of the windows to-day something far more attractive to the mass of people than sewing machines, judging from the crowds that gather in and about the store.

Having a slight acquaintance with Mr. Ewing, the proprietor, we stepped in to obtain, if we might, a closer view of the great attraction than we had enjoyed from without.

Upon opening the door, our ears were greeted with strains of melody sweeter by far than any we had ever before listened to, and we were perfectly enraptured with what we saw and heard.

The music proceeds from a Geneva Box, the largest and finest ever brought to this country. It has the melodeon and flute attachments, and plays no less than sixty airs. This was brought from Europe some months ago, by Mr. Matthew Baird, and placed in the hands of J. Dean Benton, Esq., of Wilmington, Del., with unlimited instructions to mount the same with one of his inimitable models, Mr. Benton having already acquired great celebrity for his steamships, monitors, and engines of gold and silver.

Engine No. 1800 having just been completed by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, was selected as the best and most suitable subject for the exercise of his remarkable ingenuity and skill.

Having secured all necessary drawings, and procured a sufficient supply of pure gold and silver, enamel, etc., Mr. Benton commenced his work, and within six months, unaided by man, and with but little mechanical assistance, he brought out complete and perfect the most wonderful piece of mechanism ever seen in this country, surpassing even all his earlier productions.

His model of the steamship Vanderbilt commanded marked attention at the Paris Exposition, the great masters of mechanical art there pronouncing his work superior to their own.

Altogether Mr. Benton has made nineteen miniature steamships, three engines, two monitors and one Merrimac, mostly for presentation to some of the leading men of the country.

The model now on exhibition at the sewing machine establishment referred to is richly worth going a great distance to see. The whole vocabulary of our language is employed in expressing the sense of their exquisite pleasure and delight by those who witness its symmetrical proportions, its delicate and finely-adjusted machinery, complete in all its details, and the elegance and grace of its movements when running to the time of some beautiful air.

Mr. Ewing's windows have long been famous for the magnificent specimens of mechanical art displayed in them, but we fear they may not soon again attract so much attention as now.

THE ORTHOPÆDIC HOSPITAL.—This institution, located at No. 15 South Ninth street, which was opened in the latter part of February, 1867, for the cure and relief of all classes of persons suffering from bodily deformities, has issued its first report, from which we learn that up to December 31st, 1868, one hundred and sixteen patients were treated, five having been admitted as in-patients, and the remainder seen at the daily clinics as out-patients. Of the whole number, thirty-one were club-feet; twenty-three distortions of the spine; twenty-three affections of the joints, of which fourteen were hip disease, and five white swelling of the knee; six were knock-knees, and thirty-three were cases of other affections properly included under orthopædic practice, as wry-neck deformities from fractures, contractions of muscles and tendons, infantile paralysis, and rickets. Thirty-one surgical operations were required, of which twenty-six were for club-foot, and, in five instances, the division of contracted tendons was performed for other deformities. A large number of surgical appliances were adjusted; but in a few cases these had to be withheld from the worthy poor, on account of the lamentable lack of means. Of the one hundred and sixteen patients treated, thirty-five were entirely cured; sixty-four were relieved; six, more especially, remain under observation; while ten only were incurable, or unwilling to submit to the requisite treatment.

The Board of Directors appeal to the public for contributions to enable them to provide additional beds for the accommodation of those who are unable to attend the clinic by reason of their deformity.

FUNERAL OF A PHILANTHROPIST.—This afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the funeral of Philip Physick Randolph, who died on Thursday, will take place from his late residence, No. 321 S. Fourth street. The deceased was the grandson of the celebrated Dr. Philip Sing Physick, and his father, Dr. Randolph, was a prominent member of the medical profession. Heir to an ample fortune and high social position, the deceased devoted his wealth, his influence, and the best years of his life to alleviate the miseries and misfortunes of his less fortunate fellows. He was an active member of the Society for the Alleviation of the Miseries of Public Prisons, and one of the managers of the Colored Soldiers' Orphans' Home at Bristol. He was a philanthropist, zealously devoting himself to promote the welfare of his fellows. In the late war, Mr. Randolph was an ardent and efficient advocate of the cause of union, freedom, and right, and with his pen and purse aided in preserving the unity of the republic and the abolition of human slavery.

ROBBERIES.—Last evening the jewelry store of James Peoples, No. 2918 Market street, was entered by means of the back door. Two watches and a number of rings were stolen.

Yesterday morning the house of David D. Kay, No. 1401 Mary street, was broken into and robbed of a silver watch and $3 in money. The works of another watch were also taken. Last night John Gear was arrested by Policeman Keating, at Eleventh and Olive streets, while endeavoring to sell a watch, which proved to be the one stolen from Mr. Kay's. Gear will have a hearing at the Central Station this afternoon.

THE "UNIVERSAL PEACE UNION."—The third anniversary of the American Branch of the "Universal Peace Union" is announced to take place at Dodworth Hall, No. 806 Broadway, New York city. It will continue two days. The first session will be on Friday, the 14th inst., at 10½ o'clock A. M.; the second at 2½ o'clock P. M.; the third at 7½ o'clock P. M.; and the fourth at 10 o'clock A. M. on Saturday, the following day. The call is very numerously signed, the names of a number of prominent Philadelphians being attached.

MESSRS. WORK & MILNE'S BANKING ESTABLISHMENT.—We invite attention to the card of Messrs. Work & Milne, Bankers, No. 121 South Third street, in another column to-day. These gentlemen commenced business under the most favorable auspices, having abundant capital and being thoroughly known to the business community, as well as favorably noticed by all the leading bankers in the city.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GATHERING.—A grand Sunday School gathering will take place to-morrow afternoon at Bethune Hall, corner of Twelfth street and Montgomery avenue, when addresses will be delivered by several prominent speakers. A number of Little Wanderers, under the care of Professor J. E. Gould, will sing on the occasion, and prizes will be awarded to the scholars.

BOY RUN OVER.—Yesterday John Lacey, while driving a horse and wagon at Sixth and Arch streets, ran over a lad named John Welsh, who was pushing a wheelbarrow in the middle of the street. The boy was not much injured, while the vehicle was demolished. Alderman Beitler held Lacey in $600 bail for malicious mischief and assault and battery.

A FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE.—Antoine Heinzman, aged 19 years, from Wilmington, where he was employed in a grocery store, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon, by Lieutenant Brurein, on the charge of stealing two watches from his employer. Alderman Toland sent him back to Wilmington for trial.

YOUTHFUL MALEFACTORS.—Jerry McNamee and Charles Mullen, bootblacks, have been a constant source of annoyance to the patrons of the American Hotel for some time. The proprietors entered complaint yesterday at the Mayor's Office, and Sergeant Crout arrested the young scapegraces. They were committed to prison by Alderman Kerr.

COULDN'T ACCOUNT FOR IT.—Henry Jenkins (colored) was arrested at Eleventh and South streets yesterday, with a set of harness in his possession, of which he could give no satisfactory account. He will be at the Central Station this afternoon.

A POLICEMAN ASSAULTED.—James Griffin yesterday dumped a load of dirt on the sidewalk at Twelfth and Carpenter streets, and being remonstrated with by Policeman Keegan, rudely assaulted him. He was taken before Alderman Collins, and held for trial.

REORGANIZED.—The reorganization of Camp No. 7, of the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, was effected last evening at the cantonment of No. 10, on Race street. The installation ceremonies were very interesting.

A SEWING MACHINE STOLEN.—A box containing a sewing machine was stolen from the sidewalk, on Arch street, above Seventh, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

A VALUABLE RESIDENCE.—The handsome residence No. 1534 Locust street is advertised to be rented. It is a model house, and has all the modern conveniences.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—David A. Brown was before Alderman Jones, on the charge of cruelly kicking and choking a small dog. Fined $5 and costs.

AN OWNER WANTED.—A bag of feathers awaits an owner at the Central Station. It was found at Fifth and Walnut streets last evening.

MAD DOG SHOT.—A mad dog was shot yesterday at Somerset and William streets, in the Twenty-fifth ward.

THE MORTALITY OF THE CITY.—The number of deaths in the city for the week ending at noon to-day was 259, being an increase of 17 over the corresponding period of last year. Of these, 124 were adults; 135 minors; 192 were born in the United States; 55 were foreign; 12 were unknown; 16 were people of color; and 10 from the country. Of the number, 3 died of congestion of the brain; 17 of inflammation of the lungs; 1 of dysentery; 1 of diarrhœa; 9 of marasmus; and 9 of old age.

The deaths were divided as follows among the different wards:—

THE AFRICAN M. E. CONFERENCE.—The African M. E. Conference continued its session this morning, Bishop Campbell presiding.

The religious exercises were conducted by L. C. Chambers.

The minutes of yesterday's session were read and approved.

The financial reports were resumed.

On motion, J. B. Murny was admitted into the itinerancy, provided he sustains his examination.

On motion of J. H. A. Johnson, the Conference proceeded to the examination of his religious and moral character.

The following-named members were marked:—Deacon Denell, Jacob Mitchell, J. W. Stevenson, T. McKinnard, J. B. P. Eddy, W. H. Turner, G. Washington, J. M. Brown, Shadrach Blackson.

When the Rev. Thomas Pierce's name was called, Henry Davis arose, and stated that the Rev. Thomas Pierce had died on March 28, 1869, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock.

A committee on an obituary was then appointed, consisting of Henry Davis, W. Moore, and J. Hollon.

On motion, the Rev. W. H. Unase was restored to the itineracy.

GREETINGS TO SAN FRANCISCO.—A meeting of the Commercial Exchange was held this morning, John H. Michener, Esq., President, in the chair, who stated the objects of the meeting in a few appropriate remarks.

Mr. Thomas Allman offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That the President telegraph to the Merchants' Exchange of San Francisco the following:—

"The Commercial Exchange of Philadelphia" sends greeting, and extends to the Merchants' Exchange of San Francisco the right hand of Fellowship from the Iron Arm this day completed from the Atlantic to the Pacific!

BRIGHT YOUNGSTERS.—A number of youths residing in the lower part of the city, since the 1st instant have been devoting their attention to the servants who have been engaged in washing pavements after 7 o'clock in the morning. Quite a number of girls have been taken before aldermen and mulcted in the $5 fine, one-half of which has been received by the youthful informers.

RESIGNED.—Reserve Policeman John H. Rawlins, otherwise know as "the Infant," whose immense size has attracted the attention of those who have had occasion to pass around Third and Chesnut streets for several years past, yesterday tendered his resignation to Mayor Fox, which was accepted.

CETRAL STATION HEARING.—John Gear, aged 10 years, was at the Central Station this afternoon, charged with stealing a watch from the house of David D. Kay, No. 1401 Mary street. He was committed for trial.

GREETING THE PACIFIC.—By request of the Mayor the different public buildings throughout the city displayed their flags at noon to-day, in honor of the completion of the Pacific Railroad.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Senor Roberts, the Spanish Minister, Calls on Secretary Fish—American Aid to the Rebels.

Advices from the North Atlantic Squadron—Our Interests in Cuba.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Despatch to the Associated Press.

Advices from Admiral Hoff.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Despatches were received this morning at the Navy Department, from Admiral Hoff, dated off Havana April 30 and May 1. Since his last despatch of the 27th ult., no further news of great importance from the interior has been received. On the 17th of April 1800 troops, commanded by Generals Letona and Escalante, arrived at Nuevitas from Villa Clara, and the day after General Lesca appeared at Nuevitas very unexpectedly with 1200 men from Puerto Principe, having started with 2200 and left detachments on the road. They reported that there was no resistance on the road, although large bodies of insurgents were posted on the high ground at some distance from the road. Numbers of well-constructed trenches, breastworks, ditches, etc., were visible.

The 4000 men concentrated at Nuevitas, among them 1500 Catalan volunteers recently from Spain, were to commence operations on the railroad between Nuevitas and Puerto Principe immediately. About 1500 started on the 23d, convoying provision trains. This expedition, under General Lesca, is to repair the road temporarily, get the cars along, and provision the troops at Puerto Principe, who are said to be on half rations. It was reported that Quesada, the revolutionary leader, purposely allowed the Spaniards to march without opposition from the interior to the sea-coast, but intended to obstruct their return, and, if possible, capture their provision trains. Dr. Simmons is still confined at Principe, accused of circulating insurrectionary proclamations and giving aid and comfort to the rebels.

General Lesca has stated that the Doctor's life was spared because he was an American.

Rear-Admiral Hoff had an interview with the Captain-General relative to a young engineer named Rafael Estrada, who, although having declared his intention of becoming an American citizen, had never, it seems, taken out his final papers, although having married and lived some years in the United States. The Captain-General issued an order for his immediate release.

Appointments by Secretary Boutwell.

Special Customs Agents—J. C. Dutch, Fifth District, headquarters at Savannah; G. E. F. Schenck, Eighth District, headquarters at New Orleans; Dr. Nutting, Thirteenth District, headquarters at St. Paul's, Minn.; A. R. Leib, Fifth District, headquarters at Key West; T. H. Godwin, District of Virginia, headquarters at Norfolk.

J. H. Wiggon has been appointed Assistant Special Agent, and assigned to duty in the Sixth District, and Charles S. Parker, Assistant Agent, assigned to duty in the Fifth District.

The Anxiety of the Spanish Minister.

Mr. Roberts, the Spanish Minister, has informed the Secretary of State that the steamer Quaker City is about to sail from New York for Cuba with arms and munitions of war for the rebels; and the Secretary of State has requested the Secretary of the Treasury to issue orders which will prevent any violation of the neutrality law of 1812, which order will accordingly be issued.
